

Moves To Rescue New York Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Congress moves ahead with legislation to aid New York City, the governor of New York State is calling for street demonstrations supporting the city's plea for federal help.

A House banking subcommittee tries to complete work today on a bill to grant federal loan guarantees to New York City. The panel's chairman, Thomas L. Ashley, D-Ohio, predicted approval with two votes to spare.

The Senate Banking Committee approved a bill on Thursday that includes $4 billion in loan guarantees for the city. The measure is expected to be up for a full Senate vote next week.

One of the two loan guarantee plans studied by the House panel would offer up to $7 billion in loan guarantees to help a city or state continue essential public services or to prevent or ease the effects of default. The other would offer loan guarantees of up to $6 billion.

Either would be applicable before or after default occurred, and would be contingent on the city's balancing its budget. Each bill would provide for administration of the guarantees by a federal board.

A Senate judiciary subcommittee today planned to hear administration spokesmen discuss President Ford's proposal to revise bankruptcy laws to help New York maintain essential services after a default. A House judiciary panel, at work on general revisions in the bankruptcy laws, also planned to focus on their application to New York's problem.

But consideration of measures to aid the city remained in the shadow of a threatened presidential veto of any bill designed to prevent New York City's financial default, and Ford said he didn't believe there were enough pro-New York votes to get an aid bill passed.

Meanwhile, there were these related developments Thursday:

—New York's Gov. Hugh L. Carey urged New Yorkers to take to the streets, to fill Times Square in an antiadministration rally reminiscent of post-Pearl Harbor demonstrations.

—Ford, on a campaign trip to raise money for his party, followed up on his veto promise by telling Republicans that the New York problem should serve as a warning to other local governments to manage their financial affairs properly.

—Federal bank regulators, who reported that 53 national banks could have problems if New York defaults on its debts, are seeking more data about the impact of default on the banking system.

—Treasury Secretary William E. Simon continued to insist that the city could avoid default. He said the city could borrow money against municipal pension funds or temporarily raise its sales tax.

—Felix Rohatyn, chairman of New York State's Municipal Assistance Corp., created to restructure New York City's debt, predicted the city could default by mid-November if a $158 million package containing a mixture of state and private funds cannot be assembled. If the package is arranged but no federal aid is available, default could arrive on Dec. 10, he said.

Carey, angry over Ford's refusal to help New York City, called for a turn out on "New York Day" and urged thousands of New Yorkers to jam Times Square. He didn't specify a date.

A spokesman for the comptroller of the currency said Thursday that all of the nation's 4,700 national banks have been asked by Comptroller James E. Smith to report the amount of New York city and state securities they have accepted as collateral on loans.

The value of such collateral would be jeopardized if the city defaults on its debts, making it likely that the banks would want borrowers using such bonds to post new collateral on loans, the spokesman said.

"Even if a default doesn't occur, the city and state securities are being traded at a discount; nobody is buying at par value any more," he said.

Loans which are not backed by adequate collateral are more risky for banks. The spokesman said the comptroller's office hopes to have the information from the banks compiled in about two weeks.

Smith recently disclosed to a House subcommittee that 53 national banks could face insolvency or liquidity problems if New York City defaults.

They could require outside assistance from private sources or

Kissinger Faces Hostile Panel Over Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today denied a charge before the House intelligence committee that he is withholding a subpoenaed dissent memorandum on his Cyprus decisions to avoid personal embarrassment.

Kissinger told the committee: "There is nothing we seek less than a confrontation."

The charge and denial came as

Youngsters Find Tricks In Treats

Two Circleville youngsters found unwanted foreign objects in their trick-or-treat booty Thursday night, while Halloween pranksters are blamed for setting a fire which leveled a vacant house on Route 752.

Myron Fuller, 1216 Turner Drive, reported to Circleville Police that his son, Jamie, 14, discovered a staple imbedded in an apple he apparently picked up while trick-or-treating.

Police retraced young Fuller's path and found what they believed to have been the location where the apple was given. However, the owner of the house said no one was home to pass out treats.

Fifteen-year-old Donald Young, 431 S. Court St., found a needle stuck in the "Clark" candy bar he was eating.

Halloween pranksters are being blamed for a 9 p.m. fire which destroyed a vacant house owned by Samuel Hall.

Harrison Township fire department fought the blaze for two hours before they were able to bring the fire under control. The Bloom Township and Rickenbacker Air Force Base Fire authorities assisted Harrison firefighters bringing with them 4,600 gallons of water.

Leased to Clyde S. Cromley of Golden Gate, Florida, the land is farmed by Pete Williamson, Route 2, Ashville.

Authorities were able to keep the fire from spreading to a cornfield and other buildings on the property.

Members of the Pickaway County REACT unit helped Circleville Police locate a young trick-or-treater who apparently became lost in the maize of costumed characters. The youngster was returned to his home about 10:30 p.m., police said.

Lawrence Smith, 1116 S. Court St., told police that vandals fired two shots from a high-powered air gun at him while he was working in his garage 8:10 p.m. Thursday.

Smith was not hurt by the blasts, one of which ricocheted in the garage and the other which struck the door.

Vandals knocked over and destroyed a mailbox, valued at $15, at the 515 Ridgewood Dr. home of James Brown, did some damage at Circleville High School, and dumped trash and broken glass on Watt St.

Vandals sprayed white paint on a Teays Valley School Bus between 6:30 p.m. Thursday while it was parked at a home on Fridley Road.

Julia Kaiser, driver of bus No. 15, reported that paint was sprayed on the windows and side of the bus.

Weather

Clear, but not as cold tonight, low, upper 30s to low 40s. Partly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday with chances of showers in the evening, high, low to mid 60s. Probability of precipitation, near zero per cent tonight and 30 per cent Saturday. Temperatures Thursday were: high, 50; low, 27.

Kissinger went before the hostile committee to explain why he would not turn over the memorandum or let low-level officials testify to Congress any other way on policy.

In an opening statement, chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said it is his personal belief that information withheld by Kissinger and other officials "has tended to be withheld more out of embarrassment or fear that America will look bad than any other reason."

Kissinger listened attentively and then told the committee: "Let me make one thing clear — there is no concern that the Boyatt memorandum contains anything that will be embarrassing to the administration, the President or the secretary of state."

Thomas Boyatt was head of the State Department's Cyprus desk during the Cyprus crisis last year and sent the dissent memorandum afterwards to Kissinger criticizing U.S. handling of the affair.

Overriding Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., the committee decided to give Kissinger a hearing before deciding whether to press contempt action or other measures to get the memorandum.

Kissinger said decision-making would be destroyed if junior and middle-level officers could not give him policy advice without fear of having later to justify it before Congress or the public.

ROUNDTOWN

BILL Stout, Pickaway County blood chairman today reminded prospective donors that the next visit of the Bloodmobile is scheduled Nov. 6 at Community United Methodist Church . . . This visit was originally scheduled for Friday, but was changed about 2 months ago. . . Stout also pointed out that those who gave blood on September 16 will not be eligible at this visit since the required 56 days have not elapsed. . . However, they will be accepted on December 4.

The gunmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns and wearing black ski masks with eerie red eyeholes, have invaded six homes in the past four weeks, raping one teen-ager, smashing the eye glasses of four people and throwing liquid drain cleaner in the face of one woman.

He has also said that on principle he must protect State Department officers from being exploited as they were by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., during the debate over the fall of China in 1949. Kissinger has said he was sure the House panel had no intention of exploiting the junior diplomats but that it was a matter of principle.

Vowing not to give up his fight to get the memorandum and other documents from Kissinger, Pike said on the eve of the hearings that the committee wants to find out if Kissinger rejected recommendations that could have headed off the Cyprus crisis or reduced its severity.

"Mr. Kissinger has many secrets,"

Pike said. "Some of them are achievements, some are embarrassments, some are horrors."

"He will persevere in trying to conceal them. We will persevere in trying to get them for Congress and the American people."

The chairman made the comments in a letter to the New York Times which he inserted in the Congressional Record.

Boyatt's recommendations have not been disclosed, but a former U.S. ambassador to Cyprus, Taylor Belcher, testified that operations officers tried to get Kissinger to press harder than he did to avoid the Greek-inspired coup which started the crisis.

Turkey invaded a week later and still occupies 40 per cent of Cyprus.

Halloween Terror Stalks Florida Area

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — A shadow of real Halloween terror hung over the citrus groves around this Central Florida town today in the specter of sadistic gunmen who "come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere," police say.

Despite around-the-clock patrols by 60 officers, police warned parents in rural areas of West Orange and South Lake counties to keep their trick-or-treaters off the streets tonight.

"On Halloween a lot of kids will be out pulling pranks, and with a lot of people this nervous, someone might get hurt," said Orange County Sheriff Mel Coleman.

The gunmen, armed with sawed-off shotguns and wearing black ski masks with eerie red eyeholes, have invaded six homes in the past four weeks, raping one teen-ager, smashing the eye glasses of four people and throwing liquid drain cleaner in the face of one woman.

Local gun shops reported a flood of weapons being purchased, and the Lake County Sheriff's office investigated tips on the formation of a vigilante group of up to 150 armed men.

In an effort to calm the residents, state and local police agencies dispatched the 60 officers into the area Thursday night.

"We've got to get these guys before some innocent person is killed," said one worried police official. "But they come out of nowhere and melt back into nowhere."

Authorities said they were fairly certain that all six incidents, in which the number of gunmen varied from two to three, were the work of the same persons.

"They all appear to be related," said

Julia Yunker Wins Literary Award

Julia Yunker was a first place winner of the "Cricket League" national competition sponsored by Cricket magazine. Julia is the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Yunker, 536 N. Court St. She is a seventh grader at Circleville Junior High School.

The contest is divided into two age categories, 5-8 and 9-12 years of age. Cricket magazine sponsors a monthly writing and drawing contest which is open to all readers. Each monthly contest is unique with specific guidelines given in the "Cricket League" pages.

Cricket is published by the Open Court Publishing Company of La Salle, Ill. and is billed as the only truly literary magazine for children in the country.

Following is a copy of Julia's story as it appeared in Cricket Magazine: LEO

I was looking for constellations the night it happened. Alone. I was always alone. Nobody would be my friend. I recognized Leo the Lion in the sky. Was it my imagination, or did he wink at me? Suddenly he grew larger and larger. I gasped as he moved through the cosmos, drawing nearer. I closed my eyes, afraid it was a dream.

When I opened them I found myself looking into deep amber eyes in a golden face. "Leo!" I breathed, "Will you be my friend?"

"That is my purpose. You are alone. When you have a human friend I must leave." His voice was rich and beautiful.

That's how it started. That whole summer he was with me, but only I could see him. But at school I made a friend. I skipped home to tell Leo, but I had to do chores and homework. When

JULIA YUNKER

I was finally done, the stars were coming out.

I threw my arms around his neck. "I have a friend! Her name is Doreen and . . ." I broke off. "Leo why are you so sad?"

"I must leave." A great tear dropped from his eye and made a puddle on the ground.

"No!" I hugged him tightly, as if to keep him with me. "No!" I cried into his mane. I sobbed and sobbed.

"I must."

"Won't I ever be with you again?" I wept.

"When you are older. I will come to you . . . and Doreene."

With that he ran to the sky and took his place among the stars. But he left two gifts — a single golden hair, and a lion-shaped tektite.

Candidates, Issues Will Stir Voter Interest

Polling places will open 6:30 a.m. Tuesday and remain open until 7:30 p.m. for what Board of Elections officials hope will be a large turnout for the November 4 General Election.

Board members are banking that voter interest for contested municipal government positions, large groups of candidates battling for positions on the Circleville and Teays Valley Boards of Education, contested races in all but four of the county's 15 townships, and concern over the nine State Issues will result in a representative election.

Unofficial vote tallies are expected to be completed no later than 9:30 p.m. Tuesday by the hard working Board of Elections officials, William A. Stout, Nancy Badgley, Delbert Remy, Betty McGinnis, Guy Sark, and Lucille Dumm.

There are 14,839 registered voters in Pickaway County. And, according to the 1970 census, the county population is 40,071.

THREE CITY RACES

Voter interest in Circleville appears to be centering on the three contested races in city government, the office of mayor, city auditor, and three councilmen-at-large positions.

All other openings in the election are uncontested, and there is no official candidate for the fourth ward city council seat.

Incumbent Mayor Frank Barnhill, a Republican with eight years experience on city council, will face the challenge of Democrat Robert Bensonhaver for the city's top spot.

Barnhill is his party's candidate by way of the primary vote, while Bensonhaver was uncontested in the primary.

The mayor's position, a four-year term, offers a salary of $6,000.

Five men, two of them incumbents, will be seeking one of the three councilman-at-large seats open due to expiration of terms.

The incumbents are Republican Tommy Wells and Democrat David Crawford.

Also running are Glen S. Jones, a Republican, and Democrats Donald Greene and B. J. Thompson.

The only other contested race city voters will decide is that of the auditor where incumbent Republican Marvene Turner will face Democrat Kathleen J. Hoffman.

Candidates for city government running without opposition are Joseph Bell for president of council; John Adkins for city solicitor; David Goldschmidt for first ward councilman; John Jenkins for second ward councilman; and Harold Hoffman for third ward councilman.

VILLAGE GOVERNMENT CANDIDATES

While residents of the eight villages in Pickaway County will be choosing mayors, only New Holland and Tarlton voters will have a choice in the Nov. 4 election.

All other candidates are running unopposed.

In Tarlton, the three mayoral candidates are George D. Karshner, Orville Beatty, and Albert McCain.

Running unopposed in the village for the two vacant council seats are Northa Karshner and Herschel Salyers, while John I. Karr and Arnold Reichelderfer have no opposition for the two seats on the Board of Public Affairs.

There is no candidate for village clerk-treasurer, although Roger M. Kellough is an official write-in contender.

Edward Summers and Russel Jacobs Sr. are battling for mayor of New Holland, and residents will have another contested vote as Wesley Ruth, Ned Shaw, and Jerry E. Smith are seeking the two vacancies on village council.

Kay Hooks is running unopposed for village clerk-treasurer seat and there are no candidates for two vacancies on the Board of Public Affairs.

In Ashville, incumbent Mayor James V. Hopper is the only candidate for the top spot.

However, a race is developing between Richard P. Cook, George Forquer, and Marvin Hicks for the two available seats on village council.

Raymond Lindsey is unopposed as clerk-treasurer, and Everett Seeds is the only candidate seeking a post on the Board of Public Affairs.

John Kaiser is unopposed in his bid to be elected as mayor of Commercial Point and James Albright is unopposed for the clerk-treasurer's office.

However, village residents will have to elect two members to village council from candidates Hardwick Cole, George Null, and Dianne Shadwick.

Darbyville candidates will face no opposition in the November vote as Marietta Knece is the lone candidate for mayor, Manelia Schatz is running unopposed for clerk-treasurer, and Sarah Ann Bucy and Rosanette Perkins are the only candidates for the two village council seats.

Orient and South Bloomfield voters face a similar situation as all candidates are unopposed. Candidates in Orient are James Sealock for mayor, Ruby Weese for clerk-treasurer, and Marie Crawford for village council.

In South Bloomfield, Albert Roese is seeking the mayor's office, Fern Bozman is running for clerk-treasurer, and Ronald Kanipes and Russell Toole are the only candidates for the two vacancies on council.

In Williamsport, incumbent Mayor Paul Long and current clerk-treasurer

George Ann Puffinbarger are seeking reelection as unopposed candidates.

However, there is a battle between Jack Brayshaw, Robert Metzger, C. Wilson Thomas, and Charles D. Wallace for the two vacancies on village council, and between David Adams, Malcolm Grady, and George Kaiser for the two vacancies on the Board of Public Affairs.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTING

Two contested races highlight elections for positions on Boards of Education in the city and county.

Six candidates are seeking one of the three openings on both the Circleville and Teays Valley Boards of Education.

Candidates in the Teays Valley District are Everett Beers, Janet Lee Bluck, Elisabeth Sark Herdman, Mike Lombardo, Richard E. Myers, and Harold Peters.

The six Circleville candidates are Robert Johnson, John Farthing, Thomas Elsea, Lemoyne Van Vliet, Joseph McGowan, and Robert Liggett.

No contested races developed in the Logan Elm or Westfall District races, CROFTON, Md. (AP) — Saying that a "crushing blow" and intense pressure led to his resignation as vice president, Spiro T. Agnew has categorically denied again that he was guilty of anything except a single count of income tax evasion.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped into a steady decline today after an unsuccessful attempt at a rally on the news of prime rate cuts at some major banks.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 5.75 at 833.67, and osers outnumbered gainers by about a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers blamed the market's inability to respond to prime rate reductions at New York's First National City Bank, Chicago's Continental Illinois and others on continuing concern over the financial straits of New York City.

Ethyl Corp. was among the volume leaders on the Big Board, unchanged at 27 1/2 in a 100,000-share block trade.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .07 to 82.73.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks gave up .21 50 46.97.

Champion Home Builders, the most active issue on the Amex, was steady at 3 1/2.

"The only thing I ever admitted was a single count of tax evasion. I categorically deny the rest and someday, when the various court cases are over, I'll be able to speak freely," he said Thursday in an exclusive interview at his office here with The Associated Press.

Agnew said he "didn't have the slightest thought of resigning, nor had I even considered it" when he made a speech two weeks before his resignation denying all of the charges against him that were being leaked to the news media and vowing to fight to the end.

"But I received a very crushing blow between the time of that speech and my resignation that changed my entire outlook," he said. He did not specify what the "blow" was.

"You have no idea what pressures were on me to resign," Agnew said. "You have to remember that a vice president has no power base from which he can fight. He has only that power delegated to him by the president."

Meanwhile, in Richmond, Va., Thursday, I.H. Hammerman II, a self-confessed "bagman" for Agnew, won reversal of his 18-month prison term.

In a decision sharply defining the limits to which prosecutors can go in offering leniency in plea bargaining, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals apparently was convinced that prosecutors misled Hammerman into pleading guilty to tax charges in return for what the defendant thought was a guarantee that he would not be prosecuted.

The court declared that he be allowed to withdraw his guilty plea and face new proceedings before a judge, probably one brought in from another district.

The appeals court decision said that it was largely because of Hammerman's testimony that Agnew "resigned his office in disgrace" and pleaded no contest to a tax evasion charge.

Agnew said he is increasingly frustrated at "newspaper articles that consistently make note of a 40-page 'exposition of evidence'" released by federal prosecutors following plea bargains which forced his resignation.

Agnew said he has never seen a transcript of the plea bargaining, but has requested a copy.

The former Maryland governor and Baltimore County executive emphasized that another part of the agreement was that he be allowed to deny the entire 40-page document, which spelled out a series of kickbacks during his terms of office in Maryland.

"The government's case for extortion, bribery and conspiracy rested entirely on the testimony of individuals who had already confessed to criminal acts and who had been granted total or partial immunity in exchange for their testimony against me," Agnew said.

"There is absolutely no corroborative nor physical evidence to support these allegations and I have constantly denied them.

"Yet every time a story about me appears in the media, there is always reference to these charges, but never any reference to my categorical denial."

CB 'Angels' Give Help To Family

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "bunch of angels" is looking after an injured welfare mother and her four daughters whose apartment was looted earlier this month.

Dorothy Sullivan, 33, was unexpectedly visited this week by about a dozen citizen band radio operators who, along with scores of CB operators in central Ohio, are making sure the family is fed well.

A truck pulled up in front of her apartment Sunday night and CB operators who had collected food, clothing and toys from area CBers paid a surprise visit.

"I don't even know the people," Mrs. Sullivan said. "It's hard to believe."

Mrs. Sullivan, who is separated from her husband, supports herself and her daughters on a $296 monthly welfare check. "It's just like God sent someone to look us over," she said. "They're just like a bunch of angels."

Her six-room, $100-a-month apartment was burglarized earlier this month and most of the food in the home was taken, she said. On Sunday she was going to her basement when one of the steps collapsed. She fell several feet to the basement floor and bruised her left leg.

A neighbor who is a CB operator heard of Mrs. Sullivan's troubles and broadcast appeals for help to her fellow radio hobbyists.

"When I get better and get some money, I'm going to get me a CB radio and maybe I can help somebody like they helped me," the grateful woman said.

Venue Shift In Utility Case Asked

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. has asked for a change of venue charging the utility could not get a fair hearing in Butler County in its condemnation suit to run high power lines across property in the western part of the county.

The utility, which earlier won the case but was reversed in the Ohio Supreme Court, asked that the second trial be moved to Hamilton, Montgomery or Warren county common pleas courts.

The motion, filed in Butler County Common Pleas Court, said the utility, because of organized efforts by citizens and ecology groups it said have created a community feeling of prejudice and hostility toward it, "cannot reasonably be expected to have a fair trial on the question of compensation."

The test case involves defendants Joseph N. Davies and John T. Nieman, both of the 247-member citizens group which protests the installation of the lines. The citizens group charged the lines will destroy the aesthetic beauty of the area.

CG&E said it needs the lines to transmit power from its new generating stations on the Ohio River west of Cincinnati northeastward across Hamilton and Butler counties.

The change of venue motion cited "almost daily headlines" during the first trial in the Hamilton and Middletown, Ohio newspapers, a bumper sticker campaign, written and telephoned solicitations, letters to editors and appearances on local television shows by the opponents.

The utility said the campaign by the property owners has "attempted to create the belief in the local community that there is some threatening health hazard which will be unloosed on the community in the event the utilities are successful in constructing their proposed transmission line."

School Districts Curb Requests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — School districts apparently looking forward to an influx of state funds from the new equal yield subsidy have sharply curtailed requests on the November ballot for additional local tax money.

Only 95 requests statewide for increased operating funds are set for Nov. 4, compared to 206 tax issues in the 1974 general election, when voters rejected more than 71 per cent of the levies.

The operating levies and 55 bond issues represent the lowest number on record in each category for a general election, according to the Ohio Education Association which surveyed county election boards.

With the addition of 45 renewals of existing levies and 34 requests for permanent improvements, a total of 229 school-related issues have been certified for the election.

Most of Ohio's 617 public school districts will receive an automatic increase in state money when the equal yield formula takes effect in December. The new state aid program is designed to reward local tax effort with increased state dollars.

Marietta school district has the largest request with two operating levies totaling 13.5 mills, but only 28 of the 95 issues are for five mills or more.

Northeastern Local District in Clark County is next with a 10 mill request, and North Ball Local in Ottawa County is asking for 8 additional mills.

Also in Clark, the Springfield City District has submitted an $11.5 million bond issue to voters to finance a five-year school renovation plan.

Several crucial money issues face voters in big city districts.

In Youngstown, the local board is trying again for approval of a 6.7 mill renewal after losing that amount last June in what the OEA calls "a rare instance where voters turned down (continuation of) existing money for schools."

In suburban Campbell, where officials have asked for a state audit to determine if enough money is available to keep school doors open the rest of the year, a 5.9 mill levy is before the electorate.

The Niles district in neighboring Trumbull County is seeking acceptance of a 7.5 mill additional operating levy.

Toledo school district parents and teachers are campaigning for a 7.5 mill levy to provide $8.2 million that would end a hiring freeze and finance operations over the next three years. Superintendent Frank Dick has warned that city schools will be forced to shut down in a year's time without the money.

The Anthony Wayne district in suburban Whitehouse is going to 6.8

mills additional.

Cleveland Heights-University Heights with a 6.9 mill request, Euclid at 6.4 mills, and Parma which is asking a 5.6 mill increase, are the only Cuyahoga County districts with substantial levies.

A $12 million bond issue in the Cincinnati district would be used to replace an elementary school and a high school, both for handicapped children.

The West Clermont Local District in nearby Clermont County has proposed a $6.5 million bond issue for construction of two middle schools and additions or improvements at existing schools.

Back On The Escalator

The government has hopped on the Social Security escalator once again with the announcement that the taxable wage base will jump to $15,300 per year on Jan. 1, 1976.

Then, in keeping with the insidious practice usually followed, the percentage of the take will jump in 1978, unless the all-seeing Congress decides to hike it earlier.

Even with all the new funds, the Social Security Administration will start running a deficit. This was allowed to happen because President Lyndon B. Johnson pirated the trust fund to pay for some of his big social programs.

It is past time for a complete revamping of the system. If this is not done, some fine day the people will awaken to find they have spent most of their lives contributing to Social Security and will not be able to get anything back.

One big problem in funding has been that the Congress has continually brought more people under coverage of the system who have never contributed a dime. Thus, not only are present-day workers helping to support those whose contributions do not match their benefits, but are also supporting those who paid nothing at all.

The wage base boost at least has the advantage of bringing in money from those who make the most. The percentage increase means many persons with lower incomes are paying as much into Social Security as they are into federal taxes. And all this with no guarantees they will ever get a cent back.

Like It Was

By JIM BISHOP

Perry Charles was a skinny, balding, hyperkinetic radio announcer who could, and often did, make a four-alarm fire sound hilarious. Mark Hellinger, handsome, slick-haired, a newspaper columnist who drank a fifth of brandy a day, yearned to be a football announcer.

Put Perry with Mark in the radio booth at Baker Field, where Columbia University played football, and you had a dash of nitro and a smidge of glycerine. When they were yanked from their microphones, an aura of insanity died in football.

Each Saturday afternoon the two climbed the outside stairway at Baker Field, laden with bottles and paper cups. When Columbia won, Hellinger often invited half the team to his apartment, where they mangled rugs and hardwood floors with cleats.

Hundreds of thousands of fans tuned in WHN every Saturday to fall down in helpless laughter at the shenanigans of the Perry and Mark Show. Surely Frank Gifford, Howard Cosell and Alex Karras are dull indeed as they slap each other with those wet towel sallies.

One Saturday, Columbia was playing Virginia Military Institute. Mr. Charles and Mr. Hellinger panted to the top of the stairway and squeezed into the big, glass radio booth. It was cold. They sat and poured another drink.

The game started. They said not a word. They blew on their hands. They listened to young Ford Frick, announcing the game on their left. They turned to their right, where Graham McNamee talked at a bouquet of microphones.

The first words the WHN audience heard were, "My office says that last week we had a kid playing 60 minutes and the kid has been in an infirmary three weeks." The deep growl of Hellinger said, "Nuts. A million kids run on the field, a million run off; who has time to check?"

"Sweetheart," said Perry, "our sneaky pal McNamee has worked out a new system of getting the names straight. Look over there. See? He has a big sheet of paper on the table. On one side are the V.M.I. players, on the other side, Columbia."

Every word was going out over the air. "Pappy," said Mark, "we poor kids is saved." There were ripping sounds as they tore up the wrapping paper which held the bottles together. "We write the names — V.M.I. on this side," said Perry, "and Columbia on the other."

"Got it," Mark said. "And when a kid leaves the game, we erase him and put the new name in. This calls for a drink." Time out. A moment later, Hellinger's voice, "What kind of a louse won't drink to his own mother?"

There was furious scribbling, muttered cursing, and more drinks. When they were finished, Perry Charles burst into insane laughter. "Mark," he shouted, "we got the teams backwards. They're on the wrong side of the paper." "Okay," said Hellinger, "we erase quietly."

They shouted for someone, Mark said, "Ladies and gentlemen, Prince Mike Romanoff. Speak, dummy." Mike proceeded to tell how Tsar Ivan the Terrible invented the original football game at St. Petersburg.

The quarter was over. The teams changed sides. The two men cursed and started erasing again. The Prince was ordered to regain his seat among the peasants. WHN fans got the music of the halftime show.

In the third quarter, they heard Mark whisper that he had to go to the bathroom. Perry was furious. "If you go, I go," he said. They sat and squirmed. "I got an idea," Perry said. "We both go."

He stood, grabbed both microphones, and put them on McNamee's desk. At home, thousands of fans figured that the radio was in need of a sharp kick, because it was tuned to WHN but was getting WEAF.

Arm in arm, they took a bottle and went down the outside stairs. In the men's room, they relaxed. They toasted coach Lou Little's Columbia team. When they got back upstairs — painfully and slowly — the booth was buzzing with phone calls. WHN demanded to know when they signed McNamee. "I don't know," Perry said, "it seemed like a hell of an idea." NBC demanded to know from McNamee if he was doing an independent broadcast for WHN.

"I saw two new microphones," he said, "and I thought we picked up two new stations." The blue shadows of autumn grew long. There was a thunderous rah-rah. The game was over.

"What was the score?" Mark asked Ford Frick. The sportswriter glared. "Thank God that's over," Perry said. "They'll never ask us back again." ...

Indiana Milk Prices To Rise

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dairy officials are indicating milk prices at the supermarket could increase by as much as 12 cents a gallon Monday.

The increase stems from a 60 cents a hundredweight hike in the price paid farmers for raw milk by processors. The boost was announced Wednesday by Associated Milk Producers Inc., a dairy cooperative with about 36,000 dairy farmer members in the Midwest.

It is the third increase since Sept. 1. The three total a possible 22 cents. Dairy and supermarket spokesmen declined to comment on how much the final increase would be. The 60 cent increase equals about 6½ cents a gallon at retail. Dairies usually add 2-4 cents and supermarkets another 1-2 cents.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our doctor pricks the ear lobe to take blood from the children and us. Other doctors in the community prick the finger. We are curious as to why he chooses the ear.

Mrs. H. L., Del.

Dear Mrs. L.:

I am certain that if you asked your doctor this simple question he would have told you that children, and some adults, are bothered less by taking a few drops of blood from the ear lobe than from the finger.

Anyone who types or uses the tips of their fingers will vouch for the fact that the pinpoint puncture can be annoying for 24 to 48 hours.

For routine studies, there is no difference in the nature of the blood.

My husband is 52 and seems to be in perfect health. Every Sunday he plays paddle tennis for three hours. When he comes home he is in a state of exhaustion for the rest of the day. Do you agree that this kind of punishment is not good for his health?

Mrs. J. J., Tex.

Dear Mrs. J.:

I do agree. Now, you must make your husband agree with both of us. It is acknowledged that some exercise, at any age, is beneficial to health. It is also acknowledged that exercise to the point of exhaustion or extreme fatigue is no longer beneficial and is, indeed, a threat to health.

Far too many people at your husband's age play exhausting games, including four-wall handball, competing with the memory of their capacity when they were 20.

Even at 20, such stressful games demand that the player be in constant excellent physical shape in order to withstand the stress imposed on the heart and lungs.

Sensible games, with periods of rest in between, can convert a possible hazard into an exhilarating experience.

A week of inactivity, followed by an attempt to cram into a few hours concentrated, vigorous exercise, is foolhardy and potentially dangerous.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .
Any diet that avoids a sensible breakfast is basically unsound.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

After reading Willie's Dillies in the Oct. 25 edition of The Herald, I feel compelled to write this letter and attempt to shed some light on the matter of admission to the press box at Miami Trace School. I was an eyewitness to this particular incident.

I can sympathize with Mr. McGaffney's plight, as no one can work outside in those conditions and do the competent job he would like to do.

The individual who said no to his request was merely a statistician who himself had sought shelter. To the best of my knowledge he had no authority in saying who can enter. If Mr. McGaffney had sought out the athletic director this unfortunate incident might have been avoided.

The point I would like to make in this letter is that one incident doesn't put Circleville on a higher level than anyone else. Every school in the league likes to take pride in their operation.

In regards to statements of "wait till you come to our place" or "we'll get even next year" the first person to make any such remark was Mr. McGaffney himself.

So come on, Willie, whether it is in Pickaway County or Fayette County, please try to tell it like it is.

Dear Editor:

As one who has attended nearly every regularly scheduled meeting of the Circleville Board of Education for the past two years, I view the current election with considerably more than a personal interest. A recent letter to the editor obliquely associated a change in board membership with slackening of student discipline. To me this issue alluded to by the writer seems to be one of equality and fairness in dealing with human rights and not one of alleged permissiveness.

Our judicial system has in its foundation a tenet that the punishment should fit the offense. This is not the case with some of our local school board policies. Our policies should contain means to effectively punish the offenders while permitting them to continue their education not deprive them indefinitely of that opportunity.

Also, grave concern has been expressed that new members would respond to pressure from special interest groups, rather than exercise mature personal judgement. Perhaps we need to remind one another that response to concerned citizens is the inherent responsibility of elected public servants and can be beneficial to all. My observation is that the majority of the current school board does not respond to those who urge an expansion of academic and cultural environment in the Circleville Public Schools. Specifically: What consideration is given to a "lighted school policy" that would encourage use of public buildings for continuing adult education after regular school hours?

Why not some four year Foreign language courses? Why not provide summer courses for regular students who wish to increase their knowledge over and above minimum requirements? Why not drama courses and expanded fine arts programs? What are public schools for if not to provide the best education possible for all people? We should no longer continue to deprive those who seek knowledge and cultural advancement by obscuring a lack of interest with the worn cloak of fiscal responsibility.

All citizens have an opportunity to make their choices with ballots on November 4. Those who neither explore the issues, evaluate the candidates, nor vote — generally get what they deserve.

Please vote!!

Dear Editor:

Being an employee of a utility company, it makes me shudder each time I see a sign for a political candidate or a yard sale tacked onto a utility pole. Quoting from a pamphlet which will be enclosed with telephone bills this month, "It's a sure fire attempt to injure the utility person who might have to climb that pole. Anyone associated with utilities will tell you how dangerous it is to climb around a sign or nails left from a sign."

We have an employee with our company who suffered such an injury and it didn't heal properly. He has endured much pain and suffering for many years. If there is not a law forbidding the posting of signs on these poles, there should be. If such signs have to be posted, maybe they could, with permission, be put on trees or fence posts.

Help to prevent injury to the utility workers.

LOCAL LEVIES, ISSUES

Voters in specific townships and villages in Pickaway County will decide an assortment of tax levies, renewals, and other issues in Tuesday's vote.

New Holland voters will decide a tax levy and two levy renewal issues.

The new levy, an additional tax of two mills for a five-year period, seeks to maintain full-time police protection for the village.

The renewals, one seeking one mill for current expenses and the other seeking one mill for repair and construction of streets, would also be placed on the tax duplicate of the year 1975 to be collected in 1976.

Darby Twp. voters will decide a new levy of six-tenths mill and a renewal of four-tenths mill levy to provide protection against fire.

A tax levy renewal is being sought in Harrison Twp. for the purpose of providing fire and emergency protection.

The proposed half-mill levy would be collected in 1976.

A proposed tax levy in Saltcreek Twp. seeks a half mill for the purpose of protection against fire.

Washington Twp. voters will decide on a tax levy renewal of two mills for the purpose of constructing, reconstructing, resurfacing, and improving or repairing public roads.

Williamsport village voters will decide on a proposed one mill tax levy renewal that would provide fire protection for the municipality.

Voters in Darby North will be asked to decide on four local issues that, if passed, would allow the sale of liquor in the village of Harrisburg.

Voters must decide if malt beverages, wine and mixed beverages should be sold by the package for off-premise consumption only; if malt beverages, wine, and mixed beverages should be sold for on-premise consumption and both on and off-premise consumption; if spirituous liquors should be sold by the glass; and if a state liquor store for the sale of spirituous liquor by the package for consumption off the premises should be allowed.

OVERLAPPING ISSUES

Voters in portions of townships in the county which are joined with out-of-county school districts will be asked to decide on a variety of school-related issues including election of school board members.

All voters in the village of New Holland and some voters in Perry Twp. will help the remainder of Miami Trace Local School District voters elect Board of Education members.

The three candidates seeking the two board openings are Susan Rockhold, Marvin Dement, and Philip L. Grover.

Voters in Perry and Deercreek Townships who are in Ross County School District will select two representatives to the Ross County School Board and two to the Adena Board of Education in uncontested races.

Ross County School Board candidates are Theodore Cutright and George Schaaaf, while Marion Dawson and Robert Dennis are seeking election in the Adena District.

Voters in Darby Twp. North in the South-Western City School District will elect two members from the six candidates seeking office on the district Board of Education.

Candidates are Diana Hannon, William McCarty, Philip Moseley, Kenneth Relyea, Judith Cesner, and Steven Darson.

Voters in Darby Twp. South who are in the Madison County School District will elect two members to the Madison County Board of Education in an uncontested race, two members to the Madison Plains Local School District Board of Education from among four candidates and decide three tax levy issues.

Candidates for the Madison County Board are Harold Stanfield and Thomas Whiteside, while William Hanusik, Jay Joslin, Frank Cox, and Ronald Grove are seeking the two vacancies on the Madison Plains Board.

An additional two mill levy is being sought for the Madison County Schools to meet current operating expenses.

And two tax levies are up for renewal.

One would provide 8.2 mills to meet current expenses and one would provide a half mill for remodeling and repairing of existing buildings and the acquisition of equipment.

NINE STATE ISSUES

One of the more interesting developments in the November 4 vote will be the decision of Ohioans on the nine State Issues, including the often-discussed four proposals of Gov. James Rhodes.

An official explanation of the constitutional amendment issues has been released by Ohio Secretary of State Ted W. Brown in an effort to clarify the issues.

The actual wording of the issues on the ballot will differ from his explanation, but the same numbering system applies.

ISSUE 1

The constitution now requires that all land in the state must be taxed at a uniform rate according to its current market value, rather than according to its use (except agricultural land and the homesteads of permanently and totally disabled residents and residents 65 years of age and older).

This "open space" amendment would create a fourth exception to the uniform tax rule by authorizing the General Assembly to enact laws permitting land devoted exclusively to outdoor recreational use to be taxed as recreational land instead of being taxed according to its development potential, unless the land is used and controlled or owned by an organization or person who discriminates against or violates the civil rights of individuals.

The amendment would also require the General Assembly to pass laws providing "for the deferral or recoupment" of any part of the difference between the annual real property tax levied on recreational land at its recreational use value in accordance with the new constitutional provisions and the amount of the tax that would have been paid had the land been taxed as a uniform percentage of its market value like other real property.

Vote Machines Easy To Use

The actual operation of a voting machine is quite easy. But Board of Elections workers point out that voters should familiarize themselves with proper procedures of the machines to allow the election to operate smoothly.

As the voter approaches the machine, he should move the red handle inside to the right until the bell rings. This opens the machine to accept the votes.

After reading the list of candidates and issues, voters should pull down on the red pointer corresponding with each issue and candidate to make their selections. There are separate levers for "Yes" and "No" notes with the issues and single levers for each of the candidates.

Voters should select only one candidate, unless instructed to choose more in the heading for the offices.

Changes may be made in votes up to the point that the voter leaves the booth.

To write in the name of a candidate, voters should locate the number of the office on the face of the machine. Locate the black slide with the same number above the same column at the top of the machine and lift the slide up.

This will allow the voter to write the full name of the candidate on the paper which appears under the slide.

Once choices have been made and the voter is satisfied, he should move the red handle to the left.

This locks in his vote and opens the curtain to allow exiting.

In any event, a special contingent of Election workers will be present at each voting place to assist voters with operating the machine.

ISSUE 2

The stated purposes of this proposed amendment, the first of four sought by Gov. Rhodes, are the creation and preservation of jobs and construction, expansion, and utilization of industrial plants in Ohio.

To accomplish this, the amendment would authorize tax incentives to industrial plants which have expanded their industrial operation, to new industrial plants, and for the construction and acquisition of new capital equipment.

This amendment would create and preserve jobs, revitalize urban center of the state, accelerate the completion of the interstate highway system, and develop, restore, and upgrade highway and other transportation facilities.

To achieve these objectives, the amendment would authorize the issuance of bonds and notes in an amount not to exceed $1,750,000,000 for capital improvements, including grants, reimbursements of loans to municipalities, other political subdivisions, private organizations and corporations. To pay the bonds and notes, the amendment would levy an additional gasoline tax at a rate of nine-tenths of one cent per gallon commencing April 1, 1976. Money from other highway funds and from the General Revenue Fund could also be used to pay obligations if monies raised by the additional gasoline tax are insufficient.

The purpose of this amendment is to authorize assistance in the areas of housing, nursing facilities, extended care facilities, and other health care facilities.

The amendment would permit laws to be passed to give the state, counties, and municipalities the authority to extend such assistance in the form of direct loans and grants, loans to lending institutions to be reloaned, the purchase of secured obligations from lending institutions, the guarantee of loans or providing of interest subsidies for loans, and the acquisition, improvement, sale, lease, or other disposition of property.

The amendment would also permit the passage of laws authorizing the borrowing of money and the issuance of bonds and other obligations for these purposes.

ISSUE 5

The stated purposes of this amendment are creating and preserving jobs, revitalizing urban centers of the state, accelerating the development of port facilities and energy facilities, and enhancing the medical, health care, and educational capabilities of state institutions.

To achieve these objectives, the amendment would authorize the issuance of bonds and notes for capital improvements for cities, villages, counties, and other subdivisions and for other capital improvements including energy facilities and heart and cancer clinics.

The amount of bonds and notes to be issued could not exceed $2,750,000,000. The bonds and notes would be paid by an additional sales and use tax levy for seven-tenths of one per cent commencing July 1, 1976. Money from the General Revenue Fund could also be used if the money raised by the additional sales and use tax is insufficient.

ISSUE 6

The Ohio Constitution presently prevents the use of voting machines unless an equal number of voting machines or rotating patterns are available in each precinct. The results are added expenses and delays in voting. This is due to the present constitutional requirement that candidates' names be rotated on the ballot so that each candidate's name will be rotated an equal number of times.

The proposed amendment would remove the present rotational requirement from the Constitution and replace it with language requiring the General Assembly to provide by law a method for giving each candidate's name reasonably equal treatment on the ballot, such as rotation of names on a precinct by precinct basis rather than on a ballot by ballot basis.

ISSUE 7

The Ohio Constitution currently requires the names of all candidates for delegate or alternate to the national convention of a political party to be listed on the ballot, along with the first and second choice for president of each candidate for delegate. This results in a very lengthy "bed Sheet" ballot listing of names.

The proposed amendment would make it possible for the General Assembly to pass a law that would provide for direct election of delegates to presidential nominating conventions and eliminate the necessity of printing on the ballot the names of both the delegate candidate and the preferred presidential candidate.

Without passage of this amendment, it will be impossible to shorten the presidential primary ballot.

ISSUE 8

The resolution authorizes the state, or any city, county, village, township, or "regional transportation authority" to give or loan its credit in aid of a corporation created under federal law, or to an Ohio State governmental agency, in order to provide rail transportation service. These political subdivisions, however, could give or lend their aid and credit only in accordance with laws passed for that purpose.

The amendment would authorize passage of laws to reduce taxation of property used to provide the state with rail transportation service. It would also permit the General Assembly to enact laws that provide for reimbursement of local government units, from the state's General Revenue Fund, for revenues lost as a result of these property tax reductions.

The resolution declares that money raised by taxation is not to be obligated or pledged for the payment of any bonds or other obligations issued under the proposed section of the Constitution. It would authorize the issuance of bonds and obligations similar to industrial development revenue bonds.

ISSUE 9

The Ohio Constitution currently prohibits lotteries (games of chance) for any purpose whatever except in the case of lotteries conducted by the state for general revenue.

This amendment would permit the General Assembly to authorize bingo and regulate the operation of bingo if it is conducted by charitable organizations for charitable purposes.

'Bulls And Bears' Subject Of Monday Club Dissertation

The meeting of Monday Club was held in regular session with the president, Mrs. Rex E. Wood presiding.

The paper for the evening "The Bulls and the Bears" was presented by Mrs. William Cox.

Mrs. Cox was candid in her predictions when she remarked that "... in as much as renowned economists cannot agree on America's direction over the next year, it would seem presumptuous to predict what turn the economies of America will take in the next one hundred years." Therefore she limits her paper to a brief lookback at some of the philosophies and history of earlier economies and projects the future only in simplest terms as it may or may not touch the lives of ordinary people.

Through the ages, man and money have been linked for better or for worse. The Bible reminds us that "where your treasure is, there your heart will be also," along with other dissertations which early philosophers gave on the relationship between values and man. The concern with things economic therefore, is not new to man and predictions of future concepts perhaps are no more startling to us than some of the earlier ideas were to men of ages past.

Aristotle gave much thought to value. He originated the idea that value depends entirely on utility ... something very important to man like water, could have low exchange; while diamonds for example, have little importance but high exchange. Primitive money took many forms, bronze and gold their value being reckoned in terms of oxen; cocoa beans, tobacco, porpoise teeth, various grains and furs ... the list is varied and long but all serving as mediums of exchange. As late as World War II a large number of communities were still using primitive money, but modern systems of production and modern market economy was forced on a world made much smaller by modern technology.

Before the crystal ball was uncovered and a look was made into the future, Mrs. Cox recalled that in 1946 the dollar was worth 100 pennies, and an average home cost $12,000, a hospital room cost $11 a day. If prices continue the same trend as the past two years, in the year 2000 A.D. you can expect to pay $622,000. for that home and $290 per day for that hospital room. Of course you will be earning $112,000 per year but those dollars will only be worth four pennies per dollar.

The credit cards we use today are an important new part of our lives; their success have made Electronic Fund Transfers (EFT) system the latest innovation in banking and one more step closer to the cashless society. Banks and most business concerns have already gone to computers and so it is only a small operation to install electronic terminals in super markets, cafeterias, shopping center plazas and small retail stores.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "You have a row of dominoes set up. You knock over the first one, and what will happen to the last one is the certainty that it will go over very quickly."

With these words 21 years ago, President Dwight D. Eisenhower outlined the "falling domino principle" to demonstrate the strategic importance of Indochina to the Western world.

Persuaded that Eisenhower was right, a succession of American presidents went to great lengths to assure that the domino scenario would not be played out.

Now, it has been exactly six months since the Communists moved into power in South Vietnam. That event brought an end to one of the most divisive episodes in American foreign policy history but it also marked the beginning of the central test of the domino theory.

As long as the American-backed government in Saigon was able to survive, the validity of the domino theory could not be proved. With Saigon's fall, would other neighboring countries follow suit "very quickly," as Eisenhower had predicted, or was the whole theory a pipedream?

In the six months since the National Liberation Front flag was hoisted for the first time at the presidential palace in Saigon, both hawks and doves can point to events in Indochina and elsewhere which suggest each was right all along.

But the consensus is that it is far too early to write the final chapter on the wisdom of American policy in Indochina.

The period between last April and June was one of tumultuous change in Indochina. Almost simultaneous with the collapse of the Saigon government was the victory of the Khmer Rouge movement in neighboring Cambodia. This was followed quickly by the Communist success in Laos. One U.S. official called this "dramatic evidence of the domino theory set in motion."

President's Pups Said Too Fat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Gary Knipling says his White House patients are "all doing great" but are a little too fat and shouldn't be fed quite so much.

Knipling, an Alexandria, Va., veterinarian, examined President Ford's nine golden retriever puppies on Wednesday. He said everything looked good, but he ordered the pups' feeding cut back.

Elsewhere, the changes have been less startling. But there has been a perceptible decline in American influence in some areas.

Within five days after the fall of Saigon, Thailand, the western neighbor of Laos and Cambodia, insisted on and received assurances that all 16,000 U.S. servicemen would be out of the country by March 1976.

To the east, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos began demanding an end to American jurisdiction over U.S. bases there. The Philippines, like Thailand, established relations with China.

To Thailand's south, Malaysia, anticipating an upsurge in rebel activity, is expanding its security forces and recently purchased 41,000 American M-16 rifles.

Most U.S. officials agree the key to Southeast Asia's future rests with Vietnam which, in practical terms, has become united under Hanoi's rule since the events of last April.

As these officials see it, Hanoi, with some $4 billion in abandoned U.S. weapons at its disposal, has the capacity to nourish insurgent movements elsewhere in Southeast Asia for years to come. But it is not clear yet whether Hanoi has such plans.

Thailand is the country most vulnerable to Hanoi-inspired insurgency, with Laos serving as a corridor of easy access for any arms shipments Hanoi wishes to deliver to Thai rebels.

The smuggling of weapons to insurgents in the north and the northeast of Thailand has been going on for years but western observers say it is more open now than ever.

Officials here say Thailand may be more resilient to guerrilla activities than is widely believed. The nation never has been controlled by foreigners and, unlike Vietnam, rebel forces can't make headway by appealing to anti-colonialist instincts.

The future role of China and the Soviet Union in Southeast Asia is another question mark. Since April, there has been a sharpening of the Sino-Soviet conflict as both powers compete for influence in the area.

Curiously, this conflict may become a source of stability in Southeast Asia — and a barrier to fulfillment of the domino theory. There are signs that China sees the maintenance of the U.S. role in Southeast Asia as its best assurance against Soviet domination of the region.

In a recent meeting with Chinese officials in Peking, Philippine President Marcos brought up the subject of American bases in the Philippines. Far from demanding an end to the U.S. military presence there, the Chinese refused even to discuss the subject, Marcos said.

Earlier this year, as the Congress debated whether or not to provide South Vietnam and Cambodia with last-minute military aid, some American officials revised and broadened the old domino theory.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, among others, invoked a global domino theory and expressed concern that a failure by the United States to continue supporting U.S. allies in Indochina would raise questions in Europe, Israel, Japan and South Korea about American steadfastness.

Events thus far do not appear to have borne out Kissinger's fears. Most American allies, U.S. officials say, were relieved at the turn of events in Indochina, reasoning that the United States could finally concentrate again on areas where American vital interests are less ambiguous.

In September, without help from the Soviets, Kissinger achieved the Sinai disengagement he failed to reach five months earlier, and Moscow is being rebuked by Egypt for stirring Arab discord.

In Portugal, the fortunes of the moderates have improved considerably — at the expense of the leftist parties.

The fall of Indochina does not appear to have affected U.S. relations with long-time allies. Fears last May of an outbreak of hostilities on the Korean peninsula have receded, and South Korean authorities say they are confident there has been no weakening of the American commitment there. Relations with Japan, according to both Tokyo and Washington officials, have never been better.

Still, U.S. officials say the full impact of the Communist victories in Southeast Asia will be apparent only after several years pass.

Answers For Veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week the Circleville Herald publishes a series of questions and answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. Any veteran desiring further information concerning Veterans Administration benefits should contact the veterans service officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

- (Q) Can the premiums of National Service Life Insurance be waived due to a disability?
- (A) Yes. The policyholder must have a disability that prevents him from following substantial gainful employment for a period of six months or more. The disability must have occurred prior to his 65th birthday.
- (Q) Can my entitlement to a VA guaranteed home loan be restored if a buyer assumes my equity?
- (A) Yes, providing the buyer is an eligible veteran and agrees to use his entitlement to the same extent your entitlement was used.
- (Q) My husband is a totally and permanently service disabled veteran. We have four children who during the next five years will attend college. Will each of them be eligible for VA's Dependents' Education Assistance or is there a limit on the number who can receive benefits?

(A) The Dependent's Educational Assistance program provides financial aid for the education of all children, wives and widows (husband and widowers) of veterans who die or are permanently and totally disabled as the result of a service connected disability. This assistance is also available for the education of children and wives of servicemen missing in action, captured or forcibly detained or interned in line of duty by a foreign power.

(Q) May I receive a VA guaranteed farm or business loan?

(A) No. The Veterans Housing Act of 1975, effective December 31, 1974, ended VA authority to guarantee such loans.

(Q) I have been receiving my pension check from the Veterans Administration monthly without fail until this month. Can you tell me how come?

(A) You neglected to notify VA that you moved to a new address.

Churches Battling Attendance Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people who used to go to church regularly now are sleeping through Sunday mornings, particularly among Roman Catholics, and a recently completed study indicates some unexpected reasons for it.

The final analysis of the data, which finds a 21 per cent decline in Catholic Mass attendance in the last decade, says the biggest reason for it is the continuation of the church's prohibition of contraception.

The report, based on information gathered by the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago, blames the maintenance of that ban for 48 per cent of the drop in Catholic church participation.

Another 26 per cent of the drop was blamed on the church's refusal to allow divorce and remarriage, while another 26 per cent was attributed to changing attitudes "toward the Pope as head of the church."

The study involved "full probability samples," says William C. McCready, a research team member who wrote the final report, and is more accurate than methods used by most polling organizations.

He says it also was designed to elicit information to get at underlying reasons why so many have quit attending Mass and behind what he terms the "upfront reasons" that don't reveal the roots of their motivation.

While the expected surface reasons turned up — such as loss of interest or lack of desire or ability to get to church — the report found that other causes lay behind the surface explanations — the birth control, divorce and papacy issues.

BOOKS ARE NOBLE

The library is a marvelous and unique place. It can dispel your loneliness, lift your spirits, banish your worries, and transport you into another time and place.

And books literally have the power to change your life. They can stimulate your intellect, arouse your curiosity. They can lead you into more profitable and exciting work.

Without the immortal power of books, we would not know of past man and past civilizations. We would not know the creations of mankind throughout his long history of inspiration and strength.

One immortal Book offers you beauty, hope and inspiration — more than any other.

Go and find this Book. Find the strength in it, when you enter into the House of the Lord.

Bank Holdup Man Held In Hospital

CLEVELAND (AP) — A weary Edward O. Watkins, who held authorities at bay for 21 hours with a white box he said was a bomb, was reported in fair condition in the coronary care unit of a Cleveland hospital today, awaiting charges to be filed against him.

Authorities said the charges would be filed today.

Watkins released six hostages and surrendered about noon Thursday after keeping law officials and his captives in suspense with the fake bomb.

Watkins, who was thwarted in his attempt to rob a Society National Bank branch Wednesday afternoon, gave himself up after pleas by relatives, friends, a federal judge and law officials who talked to him by telephone throughout the ordeal.

He surrendered after officials promised medical treatment for his heart condition.

The first two hostages released Thursday, a man and a woman, were brought out on stretchers. The other four, two men and two women, walked out minutes later. All said they were exhausted, but otherwise in good condition.

The bespectacled ex-convict, wearing a checkered hat and a jacket, then shuffled out of the bank almost obscured by his police escort. The gaunt man fixed an expressionless gaze at the crowd outside the bank.

He was then rushed by car to Cleveland Metro General Hospital.

The box Watkins had claimed was a bomb was carried out in a vat. Instead of the dynamite he had claimed was inside, police found a transistor radio and sugar wrapped in paper.

Watkins, a convicted bank robber who has spent 32 of his 56 years in prison, first began to waiver in his demands during conversations with U.S. District Judge William K. Thomas. The judge, who sentenced Watkins to a 45-year jail term in 1967, said Watkins asked assurances that he would receive proper medical care. Police promised he would.

A few minutes later "he said okay, he would surrender," Cleveland Police Inspector Harry Antel related.

FBI agent Ed Hegerty said he walked up to Watkins and shook his hand.

That ended one of the longest and most tense show confrontations in the city's history.

It began when Watkins was surprised in his robbery attempt by police who had been alerted by a silent alarm. With guns aimed at him, Watkins waived his white box and told police he would blow up the bank.

2 Sites Join U.S. Registry

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U.S. Department of the Interior has placed two areas near Ross, Ohio, on the Great Miami River, one of them undisclosed, in the National Registry of Historical Places.

The office of U.S. Rep. Donald Clancy, R-Ohio, said the undisclosed area is to be called the Dunlap Archeological District. Evidence of a 2000-year-old Hopewell settlement has been found in the area.

Clancy aides were told the reason for not revealing the location is to discourage amateur archeologists and treasure hunters from digging in the area.

Fort Dunlap, the first settlement in the Miami River Valley, was also placed in the registry.

It was at Fort Dunlap that renegade Simon Girty led a band of Indians against settlers in the stockade, killing two before abandoning the battle, Clancy's office said.

ROTARY GUESTS — John McCarthy, left, talked to the Rotary Club Thursday concerning crime prevention. He is pictured with Rotarian Lawrence Liston who introduced him to the club. McCarthy said 75 to 80 per cent of all the people in jail today are there awaiting trial. He also said the crime rate is three to five times greater than FBI reports show because minor crimes are often not reported. McCarthy is helping to set up block clubs in neighborhoods to help prevent crime and urged identifying all personal valuables with your social security number. Bill Stout reminded Rotarians that the Bloodmobile will visit Circleville Nov. 6.

Airline Regulation Reforms Said Not Extensive Enough

CLEVELAND (AP) — Should the airlines face crisis year to year to appease those who want fares held so low they don't cover costs?

That's the question the Ford administration ought to ask as it seeks to reform airline regulation, United Air Lines Chairman Edward E. Carlson said Thursday.

"It is essential that well-managed companies be allowed the opportunity to make an adequate, continuous return on their investments," Carlson said.

Bar Unit Announced

CLEVELAND (AP)—Establishment of the Ohio Supreme Court's new disciplinary unit means "lawyers and judges should clean up their own house," Chief Justice C. William O'Neill said Thursday.

He said the high court streamlined its disciplinary procedures because "the confidence of the people in lawyers is at a low ebb."

O'Neill told the Cuyahoga County Bar Association the organized bar has been slow in responding to complaints about members. He said complaints with merit often are "swept under the table."

A major cause, O'Neill said, is that investigation of complaints is done by lawyers not paid for their time.

The Supreme Court established a centralized disciplinary counsel and staff to avoid the danger of friendship or similar considerations entering into investigations, he said. The system is to be financed by the new two-year $50 attorneys' registration fee.

Integration Shadows School Races

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Candidates for school board elections in Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati are campaigning in the face of pending desegregation cases that could lead to court-ordered busing.

In the capital, a federal court suit is scheduled to begin in the second week of December charging Columbus schools with illegal segregation. Four positions are open on the racially-split seven-member board where whites currently predominate 4-3.

In Dayton majority board members have lodged an appeal with the U.S. Supreme Court of their rejected plan for racial balance. Three seats are up for re-election on the school board, controlled by a majority opposed to "criss-cross busing."

The desegregation issue in Cincinnati, which tore at the city in two straight school board elections, still lingers as officials await federal court litigation which followed the 1973 failure of the board to implement a total integration plan. The issue has remained in the background, however, in a campaign for three board vacancies.

Two white incumbents on the Columbus board have lined up with a challenger in favor of the "Columbus Plan," a voluntary busing program which has been in effect for three years. About 3,100 students, nearly 3 per cent of district enrollment applied for the program.

One of the incumbents, Paul R. Langdon, an accountant, says he will join incumbent Marilyn Redden and candidate Mary Flom in taking any lower court desegregation ruling all the way to the Supreme Court.

Two black incumbents are in the running, Dr. David D. Hamlar, a dentist, and board president, and Marie Castleman, a social worker, along with black challenger Llewyn D. Fowlkes, a teacher. They generally regard the Columbus Plan as an inadequate answer to integration.

Candidate Joan Spratley Weld, a former teacher, hopes to be an influence for compromise if elected to the board, and candidate Rosalyn Sonenstein, a homemaker and sociologist, is nonaligned.

The Dayton campaign pits three majority candidates from a group called Serving Our Schools (SOS) against three challengers from Citizens for Better Schools (CBS). The SOS majority needs to capture "only one of the three seats to build control of the board."

The three CBS candidates, who take a more flexible stance toward the busing issue than their majority SOS opponents, would vote to rescind the appeal before the Supreme Court. They are: incumbent Leo Lucas, a business executive; Joseph P. Lyons, a personnel director at the Children's Medical Center, and Allan Spetter, a history professor at Wright State University.

The SOS candidates are: board president William E. Goodwin, owner of mobile home courts and campgrounds; Jane Curtis, a secretary, and Philip W. Sparks, a 22-year-old trust company auditor.

There are also two independents: Royse A. Brown, self-employed in marketing, and Ralph A. Bains, a management information specialist.

Ex-KSU Chief Sets Retirement

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Former Kent State University President Robert D. White has announced plans to retire at the end of the academic year.

In a statement released by the university Thursday, White said he would continue to work with his doctoral students.

White's name was vaulted into national prominence in May 1970 when four Kent State students were shot and killed by Ohio National Guardsmen attempting to disperse an antiwar rally.

White, 66, who was president from 1963-71, is distinguished service professor of educational administration. He has been at Kent State 30 years.

Forecast

OHIO Fair tonight. Lows in the upper 30s and low 40s. Partly cloudy and warmer Saturday with a chance of showers by late in the day. Highs from the upper 50s to mid 60s.

NORTHWEST WEST CENTRAL SOUTHWEST

Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday with a chance of showers Saturday afternoon. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and low 40s. Highs Saturday in the low to mid 60s. Chance of rain 10 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Saturday.

CENTRAL EAST CENTRAL SOUTHEAST

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Overnight temperatures in Ohio dropped to below freezing throughout the state. The low at Youngstown was 23, breaking a previous record of 28 set in 1968. Zanesville's low of 25 equaled a record set in 1968.

The cold temperatures occurred under mostly clear skies and light winds. The weather service predicts a gradual warming over the next few days.

The weather map shows a strong high pressure extending from western Quebec through the lower Great Lakes and upper Ohio Valley to the Gulf of Mexico. As this high moves eastward, southerly winds will spread into Ohio, bringing warmer and increasingly moist air into the state today and Saturday.

GE VETERAN — Violet M. Smalley was presented her 25 year service award this month from GE Circleville Lamp Plant. Beginning on the monogram table, she presently holds the position of quality checker.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Spouse Gets Into Fifi's Act

DEAR ABBY: Ron and I have been married for five years and have a child who is 3-years-old.

Last week, we went to an amusement park and decided to take in an attraction there. (It was Fifi La Belle and her star-studded review.) We got a table at the front of the auditorium so we wouldn't miss a thing.

Fifi came out in a very revealing costume, and she spotted Ron immediately. (He's very good-looking.) She came over to our table and sat down on Ron's lap and ignored me as though I were invisible. She sang to Ron and made a big fuss over him. He claimed he didn't like it, but I noted he didn't push her off his lap. I laughed along with the rest of the audience, but while Fifi was on my husband's lap, I was burning up with jealousy.

She ruined my whole day. Should I have pushed her off Ron's lap? I know it wasn't his fault that she picked on him, but if he didn't like it, don't you think he should have pushed her off?

STILL BURNING

DEAR STILL: It's not unusual for a female entertainer to single out a man and make a fuss over him. It's part of the act and nothing personal. Forget it, dear. Next time, don't pick a ringside table, and you'll not be so vulnerable.

DEAR ABBY: How can I keep my sons, ages 6 and 8, from being jealous of each other?

I want them to grow up and love each other, and it hurts me so much to see the terrible jealousy between them. Please help me.

MOMMY

DEAR MOMMY: Jealousy is a natural (though unattractive) human emotion. Remember that, Mommy, and explain it to your children. It may not eliminate the jealousy, but it will help to reduce their guilt feelings about it.

DEAR ABBY: My son is being married in a church at 2 p.m. I am advised by the bride's mother that it is improper to wear a long dress at a 2 p.m. church wedding, so I shall wear a short dress.

The reception begins at 5:30, followed by cocktails and dinner. I am told that a LONG dress is required for this.

The church is a great distance from my home-making it impossible to drive home after the wedding to change. So I'll have to take a long gown and matching accessories to the church to change into after the wedding.

My question: Is it absolutely necessary to have two different dresses for this wedding? I will if you say so, but it seems like a lot of trouble to me.

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's not necessary. The dress you wear to the wedding will do nicely for the reception.

Find Man Innocent

CINCINNATI (AP) — William Benjamin Hunter, 18, of Cincinnati, was found innocent Thursday of two counts each of rape and burglary in his fifth trial in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

Hunter was ordered tried as an adult following his 1973 juvenile arrest on charges of twice breaking into an apartment building and raping and robbing two women.

The first four trials ended in two hung juries and two mistrials.

A mistrial was declared in 1974 when Judge Robert V. Wood fell asleep on the bench after taking medication for a virus. Judge Robert L. Black Jr. declared a mistrial in the same year when a defense attorney became ill.

Hunter's attorneys attacked a 22-page statement given police saying Hunter made it up because he was frightened. The two women testified they were unable to identify their assailant except by the sound of his voice.

Fred J. Fisher, 1878-1941, eldest of seven noted brothers and one of the founders of Fisher Body Corp., was born in Sandusky, Ohio, and began his career in his father's Norwalk blacksmith shop.

Cleveland Man Winner Of Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — When Chester F. Adams of Cleveland heard the Ohio Lottery was beginning a new Buckeye 1,000 game, he bought 47, fifty-cent tickets.

His extravagance paid off Thursday night when he became the top prize winner in the new game. His prize will be $1,000 a month for the rest of his life. He is guaranteed at least $400,000.

Adams, 60, is a parttime construction worker. He has two sons. He said he will spend the money to pay off bills and send one of his sons to college.

The winner is a former professional football player, having played for the old Cleveland Rams and the Cleveland Browns as a defensive tackle.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said the second-place $10,000 winner was Kenneth W. Baker of Dayton. Beatrice M. Gray of Northwood won $7,500 and Walter Hill of Cleveland won $5,000.

George Sayre of Obetz won $4,000; Pater Harritos of Mount Gilead won $3,000; Joseph Moultrie of Oakwood won $2,000 and Olive Flynn of Avon Lake won $1,000.

Seek Ruling On Transfer Of Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An attorney general's opinion is being awaited to determine whether the state can borrow $60 million from the Vietnam Bond Retirement Fund to help it through an upcoming financial crunch.

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said he asked for the opinion Wednesday after bond counsel and his own staff raised questions about the legality of the transfer.

He said the questions were raised because the Vietnam era veterans bonus, approved by voters in 1973, contained wording restricting use of the funds to "one specific purpose."

Ferguson said he saw no legal problems with a second transfer of $40 million from the state's federal revenue sharing trust fund to help the state through expected low revenue months of December and January.

Howard L. Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management proposed the two transfers to offset cash flow problems prior to February when collections of corporate taxes for the 1975 calendar year get under way. The money is to be repaid within 60 days.

Even if Atty. Gen. William J. Brown should rule that use of the veterans' fund is illegal, other options remain open. These include loans from other rotary funds or ordering delays in certain educational subsidies.

Company Pays For Fish Kill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Union-Sherburn Co. has paid $1,250 to the state for a pollution-caused fish kill, the division of wildlife announced.

The construction firm paid the claim for fish and other wild animals killed in September 1974 when the company bypassed the Van Wert sewage treatment system and allowed raw sewage to drain into Town Creek.

The division said it also sent out bills totaling $1,348.89 in three other pollution incidents involving the City of Clyde, the Erie Lackawanna Railroad and Robert Fuller of Marietta.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Witches, ghosts and goblins will be out in full force this weekend. Be sure you have a good book to curl up with behind locked doors! Pickaway County District Public Library has a good selection but better come in before the spooks are about.

You can get into the spirit of Halloween with a new book by Radu Florescu. "In Search of Frankenstein" is a fascinating look at the myth and history of one of literature's most popular monster stories.

"The Ancient Mysteries Reader" edited by Peter Haining presents eighteen stories running the gamut from widely fantastic to spine-tingling. That should make good reading for All Saints Eve.

Mystery, the occult, and science fiction become intertwined in "Now You See It, Him, Them . . ." by DeWeese and Coulson. OR, why not check our 'not for the squeamish' shelf for other spooky reading to keep you in tune with Halloween.

It's not too early to start thinking about Christmas. "How To Make Children's Furniture and Play Equipment" by Mario Dal Fabbro has some good ideas and patterns to use for a special project.

"Discovery Book of Crafts" by Jann Johnson offers 65 fresh and exciting projects to help you solve your gift problems.

Did you have a favorite poem by Eugene Fields? "Poems of Childhood" by the famous author is a charming volume. Might be fun to share with a favorite child or grandchild these dark wintry nights. Some are especially appropriate for the holiday season.

Lots of writers have lots of theories on how to be successful in life. Robert Ringer has a new and myth-shattering idea. "Winning Through Intimidation" is a fascinating approach.

While you're on the subject of success, "From Three Cents A Week" by William A. Carr is the story of events and people who made a success of one of the world's largest companies. The story of the Prudential Insurance Company of America is a look at the human drama of corporate America.

Dr. Charlie Shedd has another small book with some big plus information. "Smart Dads I know" is a practical and exciting source of ideas for parents.

"Liberal Parents, Radical Children" by Midge Decter is an attempt to understand the gap that exists between parent and child in relation to current trends.

World War II buffs will want to be sure to see the new volume by James Jones. Photos, drawings and Mauldin humor are all brought together in an interesting text. Look for it with the over-sized books.

"The Faces of Jesus" by Frederick Buechner is a beautiful essay on the life of Jesus as seen through the eyes of countless artisans from early Christians to Modern times.

Two 'how-to' books explore homesteading and motorcycles. Look for "The Manual of Practical Homesteading" by John Vivian and "All About Motorcycles" shows Mr. Stone's talent as he combines a love story, an adventure story, and a fascinating science: archeology, into an unforgettable human story.

Although Clare Darcy was born in Ohio, she has been able to convince her readers that she is a product of Regency England. "Lady Pamela" is another romantic tale set against that spirited background.

New Avalon romances include: "Libby Williams, Nurse Practitioner" by Smiley, "Last Place In The World" by Sparks, "In A Dark Garden" by Aldrich and "The House Of The Haunted Child" by Ames.

There's no trick to it, just stop by your Pickaway County District Public Library for the best of reading treats!

Gen. Moses Cleaveland, agent for the Connecticut Company in 1796, led a party to the Ohio Firelands grant, a region east of the Cuyahoga and Tuscarawas Rivers, so called because Connecticut gave the half million acres to families whose homes had been burned in the Revolution.

Urge Jail Term For Ex-Official

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Franklin County prosecutor's office says it will recommend a jail sentence for a former Ohio Department of Industrial Relations official who was convicted Thursday of committing 11 criminal acts in office.

A Common Pleas Court jury found Robert Graven, 40, of Cleveland, guilty of four counts of theft in office, one count of forgery and six counts of falsification of government records.

Graven, former chief of the department's Division of Mechanical Inspection and Licensing (boiler inspection), will be sentenced later.

Assistant Prosecutor Dennis Pines told the jury Graven knowingly stole state-owned equipment, falsified personnel records to help friends get jobs, falsified payroll records so those persons could be paid without working and forged a police report to cover up the theft of camera equipment belonging to the office he left during the change in state administrations last January.

Defense attorney Daniel McConnell of Cleveland claimed his client did not steal the camera equipment and broke no laws by helping friends get jobs and that those who worked under Graven had legitimate reasons for being off work at times.

Laid-Off Employee Takes On Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A laid-off state employee who called his own news conference to criticize his former superiors had assurances of one thing today — he won't be going back.

Dr. John Moullette, hired by the Gilligan Administration to run the new state fire academy, was laid off Oct. 10 by Commerce Director Gordon Peltier, who cited budget cuts as the reason.

Moullette, a 48-year-old former Rutgers University professor, told newsmen Thursday it was because of politics. He also let go with a barrage of other charges that included a contention that Fire Marshal Terry E. Drake is unqualified, "professionally and intellectually," to hold his job.

Charles I. (Dusty) Rhoads, deputy commerce director, and Drake both denied the charge of politics and defended against the others, with Rhoads concluding it is "a reasonable assumption to conclude that he (Moullette) won't be returning to state employment."

Peltier had told the superintendent in his notice of layoff he hoped Moullette at some point in the future, when the department's financial house was in order, that he hoped he could be rehired. Moullette said he wouldn't return anyway "unless there was a change of leadership, and in the attitude toward the academy," which is scheduled to open next year.

Moullette, who has worked under Drake since January when GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes took office and replaced Gilligan appointees, said that Drake and Deputy Fire Marshal William B. Sanders, neither are interested "in the life or death struggle of the state's 40,000 firefighters who are engaged in the nation's and the state's most hazardous occupation."

Rhoads labelled the charge as being "without substance." Drake brushed it aside, along with the allegation he is not qualified, but defended his practice of opening employees' mail in the fire marshal's office.

Moullette complained that the fire marshal opened and read his mail, including a letter from a state lawmaker in September which led to his (Moullette's) suspension from his job for a week. Rhoads said Drake learned from the letter that Moullette had been communicating with members of the General Assembly, in violation of a department policy that all such communications must go through the office of the director.

Bargaining Agent Set Up At KSU

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University has become the third state college with a recognized bargaining agent for its faculty, a university spokesman said.

Eligible faculty members voted Wednesday and Thursday to recognize the United Faculty Professional Association as their representative, the spokesman said Thursday.

The unofficial result was 492 to 471, with 93 per cent of the eligible faculty members voting.

A simple majority was needed to recognize the UFPA, the only bargaining agent listed on the ballot, he said. The other ballot choice was no agent.

Betting Taxes Being Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auditor Thomas Ferguson is distributing $86,181 in state horse race betting taxes to 50 county and two independent agricultural societies which allowed betting at their fairs the past summer.

The taxes are down $12,000 this year although two more counties allowed bets at their fairs. Ferguson said this decline was mostly due to bad weather.

Delaware County, home of the "Little Brown Jug," recovered $33,783 of the total this year compared to $42,278 last year. The race delayed one day by rain in September

To the Citizens of the Circleville City School District:

It is again time to decide who shall represent you on the Circleville Board of Education. This decision deserves great consideration on the part of every voter. Even though many state statutes and laws regulate and govern our schools, we still have in our State, generally, local control. Therefore those you elect to represent you will determine how the school system is conducted.

I believe Emerson must have had a school board member in mind when he wrote, "Whatever you do, you need courage, whatever course you decide upon, there is always someone to tell you you are wrong. There are always difficulties arising which tempt you to believe that your critics are right. Peace has its victories, but it takes brave men to win them." In the past eight years I've lost some sleep and too much hair but I've gained a lot of experience and knowledge and I hope some wisdom and understanding concerning the interrelations of the community and the school, and those affected by the operations of the school including the students, the parents, the teachers, the administration, the tax payers and all those who are interested in our schools. Today's school business is considerably broadened in respect to the responsibilities and obligation of time and energy by the elected board member compared to just a decade ago. This consequently can mean that for the benefit of all involved in school operations — one important consideration would be to maintain experienced, qualified members on the Board of Education. If the electorate of the School District regards the facilities, the financial condition, the general student success, and most of all the schools contribution to the betterment of the Community, in reference that it has been a positive, progressive and improving resource for the future of the community, then we should all be interested and involved in keeping our high standards and our leadership in the field. As an evaluation of me as a member of the City Board these past eight years and as a member of this community for 31 years I ask that you judge me not only by my principles but judge me also by my principles. I believe we must set our own high and keep our standards on a morally firm foundation. We must strive to resist the temptation of a temporary popularity and the easier path of permissiveness and least resistance. We should keep in proper perspective the challenges of the special interest and the hard opposition in order to maintain fairness to all, and finally to be steadfast in our decisions that the Schools continue to serve all the Community with the best possible educational program. It is my fervent hope that you believe along with me that virtue is still a commendable quality and that a quality education still includes the teaching of the virtues in the pursuit of a quality life.

I can only promise that if reelected I will serve as conscientiously and with as much dedication and sincerity that I possess and will continue to serve the best interest of the community and the school district. Together we can succeed. Thank you.

With football season rapidly coming to a close, we have been keeping an eye on the Ohio High School computerized football ratings to determine what teams might end up in the state playoffs — Unfortunately, it appears that all of our county teams are out of the running.

However, we find that coach Paul Starr and his Newark Wildcats are holding down the No. 1 spot in AAA Region No. 3.

They hold a lead over second place Massillon of approximately 10 points. East Liverpool, Greensburg Green, North Canton Hoover and Canton McKinley are all within striking distance of the No. 1 spot.

Newark will tangle with Zanesville this week and a win would give the Wildcats three points on the first level and 22.5 points on the second level for all the games that Zanesville has won.

We are not sure who the other contenders play so we can't judge how many points they could pick up.

But the thing that we feel is really going to hurt Newark's chances is the fact that they will finish the season against Chillicothe, who is not having a good year. They will face Marietta tonight. Chillicothe only has 1.5 points on the first level which Newark would pick up on their second level as well as getting three points on the first level.

Massillon and Canton McKinley will meet in the final game of the season and the winner is going to pick up a bundle of points — we hope it won't be enough to overtake Newark but we have our fingers crossed.

This is a perfect example of how a weak spot on the schedule can hurt a team but schedules are usually made up several years ahead and no one can look that far into the future.

Coach Starr has a large following in Circleville as he was head coach at Circleville before moving to Newark — And we will all be rooting for him and his Wildcats to take it all.

Our "fearless" forecast — The Lions will find out it's foolish to attempt to invade Tiger country . . . Mustangs will take the fight out of the Bearcats . . . Vikings will uproot the Shamrocks . . . The Braves will be Laker shakers.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Ancient Massillon Grid Record Falls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One of Massillon High School's oldest football records, a 40-yard field goal by Bill Edwards 51 years ago, has fallen.

Keith Harmon booted a 47-yard field goal in a 17-0 victory over Warren Harding last week.

Edwards' effort came against Alliance in 1924 before he became famous for coaching at the professional, college and high school levels and later serving as Wittenberg University athletic director.

Around Ohio: Harmon's brother, Bill, much sought by colleges as a 237-pound fullback, rumbled for 112 yards against Harding giving him 1,056 yards this fall.

Jackson's Randy Ridge has rolled up 204 points and 1,072 yards in eight games. At Williamsport Westfall, junior John Long owns 1,149 yards and 106 points.

Hardly brotherly love? Clark Gilmore scored 10 of Frankfort Adena's points in a rout of his brother, Keith's team at Chillicothe Zane Trace. Ironton, seven times a winner, has won three by two points or less.

The foot was big in the Cleveland area last week. Frank Szocs' 30-yard field goal with no time left gave Benedictine a 38-35 victory over St. Joseph, Keith Mains' 48-yarder lifted Medina past previously unbeaten Avon Lake 17-15 and Neal Stiebeling hit from 22 yards to give Maple Heights a 10-10 standoff with Eastlake North. Both came with seven seconds left.

Pickerington, with a 6-1-1 start, has assured itself of its first winning season since starting the sport in 1963. Canal Winchester has won 18 straight and Gahanna Lincoln 39 of 42 games.

Cincinnati Wyoming has won 14 league championships in its last 20 years, including a 166-18-7 accomplishment under Coach Bob Lewis. Coach Dick Kerin of Cincinnati Green Hills scored his 100th career victory, 14-7 over Cincinnati Harrison.

Geneva, posting seven shutouts in eight victories, is heading for its first unbeaten season in history. John Montgomery, the Eagles' running ace, has 1,203 yards in just 174 rushes. Kaiser Holman has 1,217 yards at Ashtabula Harbor.

Newark Catholic, No. 1 in Class A, has won nine straight league titles. Newark's 9-7 triumph over Upper Arlington was the Golden Bears' second loss since joining the Central Ohio League since 1968.

Elyria's three straight shutout losses is a first in 15 seasons for the Pioneers. Salineville Southern (7-1-0) has posted a school victory total for one campaign. Wellsville quarterback Mike Wright's pass to Quinny Carter beat Jefferson Union 7-6 on the last play of the game.

Loudonville, the Johnny Appleseed Conference winner, has its first ever football crown. Logan and Gallipolis traded touchdowns in the last minute with Logan winning 27-24.

Mark Hicks of Fremont Ross averaged 51.8 on five punts last week. St. Paris Graham has permitted just one touchdown in eight triumphs.

Junior Vikings Blank Madison

After scoring three touchdowns in the first half, Teays Valley Junior High went to the bench and came up with a 24-0 victory over visiting Madison Rural in the Vikings last game of the season.

The Blue and Gold gridders turned in a 5-0 season and failed to yield a single point during the season.

R. D. Roese opened the scoring with a 60-yard touchdown in the first quarter. Scott Bartholomew carried over for the conversion.

David Long galloped 40 yards for another score in the first quarter and then passed to David Myers for a two-point conversion.

A 10-yard run by David Myers in the second quarter, who also carried over for the conversion, capped the Viking conversion.

Dean Brown and Doug Moss led a very stingy Teays Valley defense.

Browns Hope Larry Poole Will Star

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, adrift in a sea of defeat, are hoping rookie running back Larry Poole can become an anchor.

Nobody connected with the Browns' organization expects the Kent State University product to turn things around singlehandedly, but it seems apparent many are hoping the young speedster can be a catalyst.

Poole, sidelined for the first five weeks of the season by a deep bone bruise in his left thigh, finally made a game appearance last Sunday.

He carried the ball just twice for 13 yards. That, however, was considered by Browns' coaches to be a rather spectacular showing considering how much action he has missed and his lack of a competitive edge.

"We probably could have used him (Poole) more," said Cleveland Coach Forrest Gregg "but being his first game we didn't want to wear him out."

"Still," he added with a smile — a rare commodity around the Browns' offices these days, "I was impressed."

"And Gregg (Pruitt) ran better just knowing Larry was there. He knew he could come out for a rest if he needed it and we wouldn't lose a heck of a lot," Gregg noted. "Larry will play a lot more at Baltimore (Sunday)."

Cincinnati Bengals Prove Huge Draw

CINCINNATI (AP)—It hasn't taken long for football to supplant baseball in sports-mad Cincinnati.

Cincinnati Bengals officials, swamped by an all-time demand for tickets to Sunday's Cincinnati-Pittsburgh showdown, predict the National Football League rivalry would attract "75,000 fans if we had the room."

It promises to be the largest crowd since 60,284 shivering fans packed Riverfront Stadium in sub-freezing temperatures in 1971 to see the Bengals battle the Cleveland Browns.

"It's been a sellout for two weeks now, but the phones keep ringing off the hook," said Bill Hedgecock, ticket manager for the Bengals.

"We've had requests from as far away as California. There's no doubt this will be our biggest crowd in years," he said.

The U.S. Weather Service is predicting a perfect football day, with temperatures in the 60s and no chance of precipitation.

The Bengals, off to the fastest start in their eight-year history, risk a 6-0 record against the defending Super Bowl champions. Pittsburgh, 5-1, has not been beaten on the road since the Bengals stopped the Steelers 17-10 a year ago in Cincinnati.

"We started taking orders back in April for this game and we've had to return hundreds of orders. A great deal of them are coming from Pittsburgh," said Hedgecock.

He said Pittsburgh fans rank among the most rabid in the NFL.

"We get more requests from Pittsburgh than from Cleveland, our big state rival," Hedgecock said.

Capacity at Riverfront Stadium has been reduced to 59,000 in recent years when city officials ordered an end to standing-room tickets to the safety hazard.

"We won't break the old record, but it could be close to 60,000 if the weather is good," he said.

The Cincinnati-Pittsburgh rivalry has produced some of the largest crowds to watch football in Cincinnati. Last year's turnout of 57,532 was the biggest crowd of the year.

Hedgecock said statistics show that 75 per cent of the Bengals' fans come from within a 50-mile radius of Cincinnati. "But we get requests from Florida, New York and California too."

Cincinnati fans apparently prefer a red-hot rivalry to a team with a superstar. The Nov. 10 nationally televised game with the O.J. Simpson-led Buffalo Bills hasn't stirred interest yet in Cincinnati.

"We have a lot of tickets left for that one and next month's game with San Diego," said a front office official.

Royal Solon Wins Feature At Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Royal Solon, who had won only three times in 21 previous starts, captured the $800 featured pace mile in the sixth race at Latonia Thursday night and paid $18.80, $8.40 and $4.40.

Lady Street placed, paying $4.80 and $3.20, and Dunaway Knight, third, paid $2.60.

The 8-7 daily double of Baxter and Merry Girl paid $17.

The crowd of 1,281 bet $101,350.

Football Spotlight Focuses On Big 8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The college football spotlight focuses on the rugged Big Eight Conference Saturday where Oklahoma, ranked second nationally, and Nebraska, ranked third, put their unbeaten records on the line against traditional foes.

The Sooners, 7-0 this season, will be gunning for their 28th straight victory when they visit Oklahoma State at Stillwater. The Cowboys, 5-2 and ranked 19th, tuned up for the game with a 35-19 shelling of Kansas last week.

Steve Davis runs Oklahoma's awesome wishbone attack and All-American halfback Joe Washington is the prime weapon. Charlie Weatherbie is due back from an injury for State but sophomore Scott Burk, considered a better runner, may start anyway.

Nebraska, at 7-0 off to its best start since 1971, visits powerful Missouri, 5-2 and rated 12th. If comparative scores mean anything, the Tigers could be in for a long afternoon. The Cornhuskers routed Colorado 63-21 a week ago while Missouri lost to Colorado 31-20 earlier in the season.

But comparative scores don't usually mean much in the Big Eight and Missouri can be tough on a given afternoon as evidenced by its stunning 20-7 upset of Alabama in the season opener.

Both teams have been tough to run against and both have excellent passers — Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska and Steve Pisarkiewicz of Missouri.

Oklahoma is rated a little more than a two-touchdown choice against State and Nebraska is favored by six points against Missouri.

In other games involving the top 20, No. 1 Ohio State hosts Indiana; No. 4 Southern Cal visits California; fifth-rated Texas A&M plays at Arkansas; No. 6 Alabama meets Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss.; No. 7 Michigan tackles Minnesota; No. 8 Texas plays SMU; ninth-ranked Penn State takes on No. 14 Maryland and No. 10 Arizona State meets Utah.

Elsewhere, it's No. 11 Florida at Auburn; No. 13 UCLA hosting Washington; Navy at No. 15 Notre Dame; 16th-ranked Colorado at Iowa State; 17th rated Arizona at Brigham Young; No. 18 San Diego State at Pacific and Miami, Ohio, 17th for No. 19 with Oklahoma State, hosting Toledo.

Big Ten's 'Second 8' To Be Active

By JOE MOOSHIL

AP Sports Writer

Top-ranked Ohio State and seventh-ranked Michigan figure to win as they please this week, but that doesn't mean interest will be lacking in the Big Ten football race.

One of the key games towards determining various bowl teams will involve the Illinois at Wisconsin fracas while Northwestern tries to keep alive its hopes against Iowa.

Unless there are some drastic upsets along the way, Ohio State and Michigan expect to fight it out for the Big Ten title on the final Saturday of the regular season. The champion will go to the Rose Bowl and the runner-up will be eligible to accept a bowl bid elsewhere. After that, the third and fourth place teams also will be eligible to accept bids to other bowls.

Ohio State will take on Indiana Saturday while Michigan journeys to Minnesota for the battle for the Little Brown Jug which has been won so often by Michigan in recent years that Minnesota Coach Cal Stoll said "Nobody around here can remember seeing it."

Illinois will be at Wisconsin, Iowa at Northwestern and Michigan State at Purdue.

Illinois takes a 3-1 Big Ten record to Wisconsin which is 2-2. Northwestern also is 2-2. Michigan State and Purdue, generally expected to be contenders before the start of the season, will be matching 1-3 records.

Golf World Series Slated At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 1976 World Series of Golf will be held Sept. 2-5 at the Firestone Country Club's south course, the Professional Golfers Association announced Thursday.

The scheduling forced officials to move dates of the American Golf Classic, also held at Firestone, back to Aug. 25-29. That competition will be played on the club's north course.

Redskins Go After Grid Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The rubber match comes up Saturday between Gene Swick and Miami of Ohio's miserly defense. The stakes again are high.

The Redskins need their 14th Mid-American football victory in a row to protect their sole conference lead.

Swick, invading Toledo's passing master, risks his national leads in passing and total offense.

Miami's defenders prevailed in the first meeting 16-0 in 1973, sacking Swick 12 times for 80 yards in losses. It was only one of two times Swick has been blanked in 31 college games.

In 1974, the Rockets' whiz atoned for that nightmare. He hit 25 of 38 passes for 341 yards. Still, Miami won 38-22.

Now the Redskins, 19th nationally, can move a step toward their third straight conference crown, an achievement that belongs solely to the Toledo powerhouses of 1969, 1970 and 1971.

Miami carries records of 6-1 overall and 3-0 in the conference. Toledo is 2-3, but has won its last two starts over Western Michigan and Ohio University.

Elsewhere in the MAC Saturday, Bowling Green, second after its 20-17 loss last week to Miami, awaits

Fight Mars Flyers Win Over Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The verbal brawl off the ice matched the third-period slugfests that emptied out both benches.

Philadelphia scored three second-period goals in less than four minutes to rout the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 Thursday night in a National Hockey League game marked by much final-period fighting and a wealth of penalties.

Afterward, Maple Leafs' Coach Red Kelly was as disturbed by the style of play as by the outcome of the game.

"We did all right in the game and the fisticuffs," he said sternly. "But where we didn't do all right was in slashing at the ankles, at the knees, at the elbows."

The latter remark was in reference to what Kelly considered unsportsmanlike conduct by the Flyers.

"If that's what they want to do, we can do the same thing," he said.

"When you slash at somebody's ankles and knees, you are taking away their livelihood."

In other NHL action Thursday night, Boston nipped St. Louis 3-2, Vancouver tied Buffalo 4-4, Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 4-0, and Washington stopped Kansas City 6-2.

Philadelphia Coach Fred Shero leveled similar charges of rough play at Toronto after the game, which boosted the Flyers' regular season winning streak at home to 19 games.

Bobby Clarke, agreed, saying, "He's (Kelly) a loser. He didn't see us crying."

Winnipeg Jets Blank Cincinnati Stingers

WINNIPEG (AP) — Bobby Hull scored one goal and assisted on another and Joe Daley recorded his second straight shutout of the season as the Winnipeg Jets blanked the Cincinnati Stingers 4-0 in a World Hockey Association game.

The opening goals, by Bobby Hull at 18:47 and Peter Sullivan at 19:39 in the second period, broke open a tight goal-tending duel between Daley and Cincinnati's Norm Lapointe. Anders Hedberg and Norm Beaudin scored the other Winnipeg goals in the third period.

visiting Ball State and Western Michigan tries for its first 1975 victory at Ohio University.

In nonconference play, Kent State (3-4) visits West Virginia, Marshall is at Central Michigan (5-2-1), Eastern Michigan (3-4) at Youngstown and Northern Illinois (3-4) at Illinois State.

Bowling Green has a 3-1 MAC record and its coach, Don Nehlen, believes the Falcons still have a shot at a share of the crown. "Miami still has Toledo, Western Michigan and Kent. Strange things can happen," he said.

Ball State, 3-2-0 in its first MAC season and fresh from a 3-0 upset at Northern Illinois, is no breather for the Falcons. "I am sure our squad will be ready to play," said Dave McClain, the mentor.

The Western Michigan-Ohio pairing matches the league's last place and No. 6 teams. The visiting Broncos have yet to win for new Coach Elliot Uzela in eight games.

Bill Hess of Ohio, the dean of conference coaches, isn't impressed with the Broncos' woes. "We're fighting for survival ourselves," he said.

Meanwhile, top-ranked Ohio State shoots for its eighth straight victory against visiting Indiana. The Buckeyes share the Big Ten leadership with Michigan at 4-0.

Ohio's two major independents, Cincinnati and Dayton, are both home for intersectional tests. The Bearcats (4-3) entertain Houston. The Flyers (3-5) await Temple.

In the Ohio Conference, Wittenberg and Muskingum have the inside track on divisional titles this week.

Undefeated Wittenberg, the defending national Division III as well as league champion, can wrap up an unprecedented third straight berth in the OC title game by beating visiting Ohio Wesleyan. That would give the Tigers a 3-0 conference mark.

Host Muskingum, by beating Wooster in the Red Division, can eliminate Baldwin-Wallace from the title picture and set up its season-closing game at Marietta for the divisional crown.

Marietta, meantime, must beat host Heidelberg to match the pace.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, second-place Wilmington (3-1-1) tries to stay alive at home against Findlay (2-4-0) at night. Pacesetter Hanover (5-0-0) faces visiting Anderson (2-4-0). Bluffton (3-2-1) travels to Defiance (2-4-0).

Washington and Jefferson, if it wins at Hiram Saturday, will tie Bethany for first at 4-1 and set up a Presidents' Conference championship showdown next week. Hiram is 2-2 in the league.

Elsewhere Saturday, Indiana State is at Akron (night), Waynesburg at Ashland, Central State at Tennessee State, Otterbein at Baldwin-Wallace (night), Franklin at Capital, Davidson at Kenyon, Denison at Mount Union, Taylor at Ohio Northern and John Carroll at Thiel.

Knicks Trip Kansas City, 117-113

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Spencer Haywood, the newest Knick, can't wait to get out of town.

Haywood, the object of media overkill since coming to the Knicks from Seattle one day before the start of the National Basketball Association season, is looking forward to New York's five-game road trip to the West Coast next week just to get some time to himself.

"I was just overwhelmed by the whole New York experience," said the soft-spoken Haywood. "The whole New York thing has had me up in the air. I think when we get on the road I'll have some time to calm down."

Haywood has been looking more at home with the Knicks in each outing and Thursday night he looked downright comfortable scoring 26 points and pulling down 11 rebounds as New York beat Kansas City 117-113.

"I felt better tonight, more relaxed," he said. "You can't do anything unless you're relaxed. I came here with a lot of ideas about changing numbers and what not, but it's not going to be like that."

"I'm just going to play my heart out and try to win for the Knicks and then go home and try to live my own life."

Cleveland beat Chicago 108-91 in the only other NBA game played Thursday night. San Antonio edged San Diego 102-100 in the lone American Basketball Association contest.

Haywood scored 10 points and pulled down seven rebounds in the first quarter for the Knicks, but ran into foul trouble and was less effective the rest of the way.

The Kings, trailing 26-14 late in the first period, rallied behind speedy Nate Archibald to go ahead 55-54 at the half. Archibald scored 19 points in the first half. He added 14 more in the third period but Walt Frazier and reserve center Neal Walk led the Knicks to an 85-82 lead after three and the Kings never caught up. Haywood and John Gianelli sank two free throws each in the final minute to ice it for New York.

Frazier scored 32 points and Earl Monroe and Walk had 16 each for the Knicks. Archibald finished with 35 points, only two in the final period, and Scott Wedman added 25 for the losers. New York is 2-3 while Kansas City is winless in three tries.

Cavaliers 108, Bulls 91

Bingo Smith scored 22 points as Cleveland won its first game in three outings. The Cavs pulled away in the second half and led by as many as 19 points late in the game. Dick Snyder added 17 points for Cleveland while Bob Love topped Chicago with 17.

Spurs 102, Sails 100

Larry Kenon's 15-foot jump shot with 22 seconds left gave San Antonio its margin of victory. James Silas topped the Spurs with 29 points, George Gervin added 23 and Kenon had 20. Bo Lamar scored 26 points for San Diego.

1975 Homecoming Set For Tonight

By GAIL MORRISON

Tonight the Tigers will host Washington C. H. for an exciting homecoming game. The Homecoming will end tomorrow night with the homecoming dance.

"Washington C. H. has an excellent football team with a fine balance in their running and passing attack", stated Coach Larry Cook. "They are extremely quick in defense and have given up only 36 points. Offensively they have scored 166 points." Washington C. H. has a record of 7-1 with their loss to Greenfield.

Cook concluded, "For Circleville to win we must control the ball offensively and play good sound defense, not allowing them to have the big play."

Homecoming candidates for 1975 are seniors Julie Sberna and Leslie Ried; junior Lisa Hughes and sophomore Tonda Harper.

"Homecoming Harvest" is the theme for this year's homecoming dance. The dance will be held Saturday in the gymnasium from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

Student Council Chairman, Joyce Hoffman stated, "Everything is coming along just fine, but all students are urged to donate refreshments."

Golf Team Wraps Up Season

By DEBBIE DOWNEY

The CHS golf team has wrapped up their season of play. The boys finished off a great season, losing only two out of twelve league meets.

Dave DeFrank, senior varsity member, commented on this year's outcome by stating, "our team was really strong at the start and middle of the season, but it seemed as though toward the last of the season we became stale and slacked off. Our season actually was good all-around, but when we had to face the sectionals we choked."

The team's all league record was recorded at 12-2. The only losses the team suffered were those to Wilmington. The boys were all going strong in their league record, but did not succeed in qualifying for the district.

The CHS student body, is really proud of the boys obtaining their outstanding league record of 12-2.

8 Schools Compose SCOL Council

By PATTY FORD

The South Central Ohio League Student Council is composed of eight schools, Circleville, Wilmington, Hillsboro, Washington C.H., Miami Trace, Unioto, Greenfield, and Madison Plains.

Four Student Council members from each school in the league are sent to represent their school. The representatives from Circleville are Donna Wickline, Sam Webb, Betsy Ankrom, and Jeff Lackey, who is the treasurer for the league Student Council.

Meetings are held every two weeks and each time at a different school. The next meeting will be held at Washington C. H. in November.

The goal of the SCOL Student Council is to try to bring schools closer and prevent the hostility between them.

They are now in the process of organizing the SCOL talent show and are planning to have it on Nov. 20. They're also going to try to have a concert and a dance for all the schools. They hope to hold this dance and concert at some undecided middle between all the schools.

"I think it's a really good idea to get schools together this way, and I hope it brings all the schools closer," stated Donna Wickline, CHS representative.

Stage Hands Play Important Role In Junior Class Play

By PATTY FORD

Two crews which help make any play a success are the set and lighting crews. The members of the set crew for the play "Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" are David Crawford, Harvey Easter, Charles Boltenhouse, Ken Brown, Roger Hill, Mike Griffen, Jim Taborn, Mike Wickline, and Randy Kingery. The lighting crew consists of Ray Hardesty, Jeff Williams, and Doug Green.

The set crew consists solely of volunteers, who work on the setting of the play every night after school. It usually takes at least two weeks, working every day for two hours, to prepare the setting for a play.

The background for the play is made of nine modern frames with muslin over them. They are repainted for each new play and then assembled to form the background.

"The set is progressing very well, and with each play it gets better," stated David Crawford, in charge of building the set.

"It takes much practice to get the lighting correct," commented Jeff Williams, a member of the lighting crew. One week before the play is to be presented, the lighting crew must practice every night from 6-10 p.m.

Both crews work under the supervision of Neal Handler, director. The play will be presented Nov. 13 and 14 at 8 p.m. in the CHS auditorium.

Guidance Guidelines

This week the guidance counselors at CHS administered the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey to all tenth grade students. As the name implies this survey provides the students with measures of their interests in 24 vocational areas which are related to over 21,000 jobs arranged into 114 families of occupations.

The 24 areas are: manual work, machine work, personal services, caring for people or animals, clerical work, inspecting and testing, crafts and precise occupations, customer service, nursing and related technical services, skilled personal service, training, literary, numerical, appraisal, agriculture, applied technology, promotion and communication, management and supervision, artistic, sales representative, music, entertainment and performing arts, teaching, counseling, and social work, and medical.

Sophomores will be receiving orientation to the Pickaway-Ross Vocational Center and since at least 17 of the 24 vocational interest areas listed above are directly related to the 23 skill programs of the vocational center, the results of the Ohio Vocational Interest Survey should provide useful information for these students to consider appropriate programs.

This information, along with the students' aptitudes and educational interest should be significant factors in helping make decisions about whether to apply to the vocational center as well as to plan his remaining school program if he chooses to remain at CHS.

Home Ec Teachers Try New Technique

By LISA FERGUSON

Home Economics classes of Circleville High School are presently involved in a new program of individual experiences.

Designed to help students develop a sense of responsibility, organization, and time, these individualized experiences also help the student become aware of where to find the answers. Miss Nancy Shelton, home economics teacher at CHA, put it like this, "It's not what you know, but it's knowing where to get your information."

The program consists of many ditto packets, called "capsules," on which each of the students work every day. Consumer education, crafts, child care, and family relations are a few of the topics dealt with in these capsules. Each capsule packet includes four to five worksheets, four to five review worksheets, and one test. There are also optional dittos which the students may do after required dittos are handed in.

A certain number of capsules are required for each grade "A", "B", "C", "D", or "F". Twenty capsules must be completed in a six weeks period to receive an "A". To earn a "B" a student is required to finish 18 capsules. To receive an average of grade "C" 16 capsules must be handed in. Of course anything below 14 capsules would result in a failing grade of "F".

The new students this week are Gail and Greg Griebel. Gail is a senior and Greg, a sophomore.

They come from Webberville, Mich. where they attended Webberville High School after moving from Circleville in 1971. Gail was active on the girls track team in Michigan.

Gail's likes include crocheting, listening to rock and roll, sports, and television. Greg says he enjoys sports, music of any kind, and woodworking.

When asked to compare Circleville High School to Webberville, both stated that CHS is bigger and there are more classes offered.

They reside at 131 Edison Ave. with their mother, Mrs. Genevieve Griebel, and three brothers.

U.S. Navy Plane Was On Spy Trip 25 Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy patrol plane which vanished more than 25 years ago was on a top secret intelligence mission off Soviet Baltic territory, the Pentagon has disclosed. U.S. officials also say they have no reason to believe reports that eight of the 10 crewmen were prisoners in Soviet camps.

After the plane and its crew disappeared on April 8, 1950, the U.S. government gave the impression they were on a training flight from Germany to Denmark.

But a Navy investigating board's report shows the four-engine Privateer was engaged in what was called a "special electronic search project mission" approved by the highest-ranking U.S. admiral in the Eastern Atlantic.

The report, which was recently declassified after being kept secret since 1950, lends no support to recent reports that some of the Navy crewmen may have survived and still be alive inside Russia.

Navy officials said there has been "no credible evidence" from that day to this that any of the crew escaped the plane and ended up in Soviet prison camps.

The investigating board — which was able to gather little hard evidence — accepted Russia's official claim that a Soviet fighter shot down the Navy plane.

However, the Navy disputed the Russian version on two key points:

—The Russian government said the U.S. Navy plane opened fire on Soviet aircraft. But the board said the plane was unarmed, except for one .38 caliber revolver normally carried for security when the plane was parked on an airfield.

Coleman. "Some of their actions border on outright sadism. They seem to derive a sadistic pleasure from some of the things they do."

The most recent attacks occurred Tuesday night.

In the first assault, thieves broke into a house about six miles south of this small citrus town, bound five occupants and raped a 19-year-old woman before ransacking the house and fleeing with $85.

Then 20 miles and two hours later, two masked men burst into the home of James Kelly, 70, near Winter Garden, bound Kelly and his wife and two guests and stomped on their eyeglasses.

Two weeks ago, the gunmen burst into the house of Majorie Bray, 52, in west Orange County and poured drain cleaner into her eyes and mouth before escaping with a television set. Doctors first feared she had been blinded, but they said Thursday she would not lose her sight.

Police said the gang has netted several hundred dollars in cash, jewelry and small electrical appliances in its nighttime raids but appears to be motivated by thrills, not money.

"They're ignoring valuable jewelry," said Lake County Chief Deputy Bob Tanner. "They've passed up a color television set, and in some cases they've taken things like frozen foods, meat, pots and pans and a toaster."

"They're just out getting their kicks. They get enjoyment from assaulting these people."

—The Russians said the Navy plane was intercepted over Soviet land. However, Navy witnesses told the board the plane was under orders to stay at least 20 miles offshore from Soviet territory, and the board said "it is considered most probable" the U.S. aircraft was over the Baltic Sea when attacked.

Navy investigators apparently based their opinion on the recovery of two life rafts and the plane's nose wheel from the sea, although expert witnesses told investigators the Privateer could have strayed over Russian territory if its radar was out of order.

Interest in the mystery was rekindled last week when John Noble, once a prisoner in a Russian labor camp, and private detective Theodore Grevers said they believed at least eight of the 10 Navy crewmen may still be alive.

They cited no first-hand evidence, but quoted other former Soviet prisoners.

The Senate Intelligence Committee was said to be interested in the case. A spokesman for the committee said that Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, had received a letter calling attention to the case and that a "polite response" had been sent in return. The spokesman said the committee staff would look into the matter, but he indicated no major investigation was planned.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Nessen told newsmen that as recently as 1973 U.S. officials had asked the Soviet Union to "provide whatever information it could" about the fate of the fliers.

Nessen said the Soviets replied in January 1974 that the American Navy men could not be found in Russia.

from the Federal Reserve Board or the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., he said. Most of the 53 banks hold New York City securities equal to more than 40 per cent of their gross capital funds.

A spokesman for the comptroller declined Thursday to release the names of the banks, saying the publicity would "create a run on them and ensure their collapse."

Fourteen of the banks are in New York State, with assets totaling $2 billion, and another 15 are in Florida with assets of $687 million. Of the 14 U.S. banking regions, the only region lacking a bank holding New York City securities was the region encompassing Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington.

Smith said nine of the banks are considered "most critical because insolvency is a distinct possibility in the event of a New York City default. Assets of these nine total $898 million," he said.

Assets of all of the 53 banks that likely would experience some difficulty total just over $4 billion.

But Smith said the over-all impact of a default, if largely restricted to New York City obligations, "while troublesome and unpleasant, would nevertheless, be controllable without serious dislocations to the banking system."

Juan Carlos Assumes Reins In Spain; Franco Lingers

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A new era in Spanish history opened today as Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon took up the powers of the chief of state from Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The 82-year-old dictator was still alive, but no one believed that he would ever recover from the heart ailment and other illnesses which have kept him near death for more than a week.

Juan Carlos, the tall, blond, 37-year-old grandson of Spain's last king, was appointed temporary chief of state late Thursday by Premier Carlos Arias Navarro and his cabinet to end the vacuum resulting from Franco's inability to put his endorsement on all major government decisions, a power he vested in himself when he wrote the Spanish constitution.

There was no indication that the stricken leader even knew the government had replaced him.

Medical bulletins all day Thursday said he was still "gravely ill." An announcement at midnight from his household said he was resting peacefully and "conversed with his family and doctors attending him" during the day. Another announcement from the household at 7:30 a.m. today said there was no change in his condition.

As his first official act, Juan Carlos, Franco's designated heir as chief of state, was to preside today over a cabinet meeting to clean up urgent business that has accumulated during Franco's illness.

The prince substituted for Franco once before, in 1974, when the old man nearly died from phlebitis. Franco

Julie Eisenhower Ignores Mansion

NEW YORK (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower lives five minutes from the White House, but she says she avoids looking at it when she's in the neighborhood.

"You know, I never look at it when I pass by. I try not to," Richard M. Nixon's younger daughter said Thursday.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who has just written a cookbook for children, appeared on the television show "Not for Women Only." She told hostess Barbara Walters that her knowledge of cooking has been acquired in the six years since she married David Eisenhower, grandson of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Pat Nixon, according to her daughter, was not interested in food.

"Generally, what we had when we were children was spaghetti, chicken or meat loaf," Mrs. Eisenhower said.

Lard Production Reaches Low Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lard production and per capita consumption have slipped to their lowest marks since the government began keeping records more than 60 years ago, all because farmers have been raising fewer and skinnier pigs.

During the lard marketing year which ended Sept. 30, the Agriculture Department says, production dropped to less than 1.1 billion pounds, down 20 per cent from 1973-74 output. Another decrease, this time to around 975 million pounds is expected this season.

Hog slaughter last year dropped to 73 million head from more than 81 million in 1973-74, the lowest level since 1965. Moreover, the department's Economic Research Service said in a "fats and oils" situation report, lard yields averaged about 14.7 pounds per hog, down from 16.3 pounds in 1973-74 and almost 31 pounds per animal in 1960.

The hold-down on hog production has persisted for about two years because farmers have not been willing to gamble on boosting output in the face of high feed costs. According to USDA experts, it may be late in 1976 before substantial increases take place.

Per capita use of lard as a cooking fat — direct use in its identifiable form — now averages about three pounds a year, according to the report. A decade ago per capita lard consumption was about 6.5 pounds a year and a recently as 1950 it was running 12.2 pounds annually.

The rising popularity of vegetable oils has also been a reason for the decline in U.S. lard consumption, and many consumers have been veering away from animal fats for health reasons.

Lard exports the past year totaled about 150 million pounds, down from 180 million in 1973-74, and are expected to decline further this season to about 100 million, officials said. Exports soared to 682 million pounds in 1964, and the record was more than one billion pounds in 1923.

Britain, Canada and Mexico are the major U.S. lard buyers.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Much can be accomplished in both the planning and doing stage. It need not be all work or business. Include social and personal matters in your program.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A day for forethought. Give all your activities your de luxe treatment. Smile through possible pressing moments. Earnest efforts will bring reward.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Several avenues of activity will be open to you. Be selective in your choice. Don't waste time on unproductive undertakings.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Emphasize your innate conservatism, your envied ability to spend-for-sound-purpose, constructive action and perseverance. You have much to gain.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid excesses and worry. Also, remember that high-pressure methods and a hard-sell attitude can upset others, so emphasize serenity and ease of manner.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Stellar influences fairly generous but you could fall short of the mark, nevertheless, if not careful. Study new trends and suggestions, and do not reject unusual suggestions arbitrarily.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you seem to run into more snags than usual, immediately check, and re-check, if need be. There's no sense in repeating errors or clinging to previous misconceptions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Don't be overly aggressive, of course, but you may have to speak up firmly now, especially in support of worthwhile causes. Don't hesitate. Your reputation for trustworthiness will make others listen.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Avoid involved situations and decipher ambiguous statements slowly enough to prevent errors. Clear the atmosphere so as to make sound decisions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you happiness as well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Stellar influences stimulate your artistic abilities and promise happy personal relationships. Let the other fellow know that you value his good will.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't believe everything you hear now, but look for the truth and, when you find it, recognize, respect it. Rumors may be spread deliberately.

YOU BORN TODAY are a quick-thinking and quick-acting individual, self-assured and unusually self-reliant. Your Sign, Scorpio, has given the world many highly original people — brilliant scientists, clever inventors, outstanding writers and musicians. You are creative, imaginative and magnetic of personality but you MUST curb any tendencies toward obstinacy and overaggressiveness or you may alienate many who could prove invaluable allies along your way. The law and medicine are excellent fields for your talents and, in the latter, you could become an excellent diagnostician or internist.

Battle Against Pest Said Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report from the Agriculture Department shows that the government's screwworm program in the South has generally been effective in controlling the insect pests among livestock.

Screwworms are larvae which emerge from eggs laid by a certain kind of fly in open wounds. The worms feed on the living flesh of animals, thus crippling or possibly killing the creatures. Cattle, sheep and wildlife are commonly affected.

The report, made public Thursday, had been requested by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., who heads an appropriations subcommittee which handles USDA budget requests. It was prepared for USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service by Dr. Charles Lincoln, professor of entomology at the University of Arkansas, and Dr. W. G. Eden, former head of the department of entomology and nematology at the University of Florida.

The scientists spent three months interviewing researchers, ranchers and state and federal personnel about the screwworm program. The campaign, using sterile male screwworm flies as its major weapon, began in 1962. Except for three years — 1968, 1972 and 1973 — the program has been effective in reducing the pests, the report said.

In those years, the report said, screwworm "breakthroughs" out-paced the release of sterile flies and thus resulted in rising rates of infestation.

"Recent studies indicate that, without a screwworm management program, losses (to livestock) would exceed $200 million a year in the United States," the report said. "In our combined 78 years of professional work, we have not seen an area program of any kind that has the popular grower support of the ... screwworm eradication program."

Common in Mexico, one of the aims of the program is to sustain a barrier zone along the U.S. southwest border by releasing sterile male flies. Those mate with fertile females — which usually mate only once in their lifetimes — which then lay eggs which do not hatch.

With the reproductive cycle broken, it means fewer flies. The report said investigators found "no criticism of the sterile-male technique" and that although there were complaints of some other aspects of the program no one urged that it be ended.

Prostitution Statutes Challenged

CLEVELAND (AP) — A class action lawsuit challenging Ohio's laws on prostitution was filed in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Wednesday by a woman who said her business was commercial sex.

Tracy St. Clair, 26, wants Judge David T. Matia to declare unconstitutional "all laws which subject to criminal sanction commercial sexual conduct between consenting adults in private."

Her suit describes Miss St. Clair as a "female businessperson who is in the occupation of engaging in commercial sexual conduct between consenting adults in private." It asks for $1 for herself and other "female businesspersons" similarly situated.

She asks Matia to determine what compensatory damages should be awarded.

Named as defendants were the state and Cleveland, as well as Gov. James A. Rhodes, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, and Mayor Ralph Perk. Deborah P. Goshien, Miss. St. Clair's lawyer, said the city and its law enforcement officials were named because the action seeks also to have the courts rule that ordinances against prostitution and soliciting are unconstitutional.

She said the laws violate Miss St. Clair's constitutional rights to privacy, equal protection and due process of law.

INTERESTED IN GOOD GOVERNMENT?

If you are interested in having honest and capable people in local government, consider these facts about Marvene L. Turner when voting for City Auditor.

1. State Examiners' audits, under all administrations, have reported "neat and accurate" records, properly supported, in every audit since 1957, when Marvene Turner took office.

2. She has proved her ability to look after Circleville's money, including highly technical bond issues, treasury investments and tax distributions. She knows the many duties and obligations of the office. The lack of this knowledge could be very costly to the City of Circleville.

3. She has unequalled experience as Circleville City Auditor since 1957.

Ohio Jobless Rate Steady

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unemployment compensation in Ohio for one week or more under state and federal programs was steady in October with about 130,000 recipients each week, the Bureau of Employment Services said Thursday.

Initial claims rose for the last week this month and continuing claims under extended and additional supplemental programs were unwavering.

For the week ended Oct. 18, 130,398 persons received benefits for one week or more, a drop from the week before when 133,332 were on the rolls.

During the week ended Oct. 4, 131,663 persons received the continuing compensation, marking the 13th consecutive drop continuing category.

The average number of continuing recipients in October 1974 was 61,073.

Initial claims rose to 19,147 for the week ended Oct. 25 compared to 16,724 the week before and an average of 14,080 for last year at this time. The rise in new unemployment applications came outside the eight largest counties.

Crash Kills 4 Persons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were killed Thursday night when a car filled with youngsters returning home from Halloween trick-or-treating was struck headon by an auto traveling the wrong direction on a freeway, police said.

The dead included three children and the driver of the second car.

Killed in the collision on Interstate 70 in Columbus were James Montgomery, 5, and Leah Taylor, 3 months, and Tyrone Taylor, 5, all of Columbus.

Charles Y. Davidson, 58, of Columbus, who police said was the driver of the other car, died several hours later at Mount Carmel Medical Center.

Four other children and two other adults were injured and taken to area hospitals.

Police said they were continuing their investigation of the accident.

Acting District Manager Named By South Central

JAMES R. BAKER

James Randall Barker has been appointed acting district manager of the Highlands Division of the South Central Power Company, according to R. Dane Swinehart, general manager of the locally-owned power company. Barker, 43, replaces Sanford Haigh, who will retire December 1.

Barker began his career in rural electrification when he joined Inter-County Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc. in June of 1962 as an apprentice lineman. He was promoted to the Power Use Department in September of 1965, where he has been functioning in the areas of public relations and commercial engineer.

Prior to joining Inter-County he was employed by an electrical contractor for 15 years. He is a graduate of Lynchburg High School and attended Wilmington College, majoring in science. He resides at Route 7, Hillsboro, and has two sons, Frank, 24 and Ken, 23, both of whom live in Lynchburg.

Haigh is a veteran rural electrification worker. He joined the Board of Directors of Inter-County in August of 1950, then resigned in May of 1957 in order to accept a position in the cooperative's Member Relations Department in June of that year. He served in that position until January 1967, when Inter-County was merged into the South Central Power Company, and he became Area Coordinator for the Highlands Division.

He is a graduate of Belfast High School and attended Wilmington College. He has been a kingpin of Highland County civic and business activities for the past 45 years. A partial list of the positions he has held would include: Board member Inter-County Rural Electric Cooperatives, Inc., Highland Joint Township District Hospital Board, County Board of Health; chairman of the Board of Highland County Water Company, County Farm Bureau Federation, Farm Bureau Cooperative, Cincinnati & Columbus Livestock Producers, New Market School Board, County Extension Advisory Council, the Central Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Ohio Farm and Home Electrification Council.

He and his wife (the former Mildred

SANFORD HAIGH

Redkey) will have been married 42 years on November 25, and have two daughters and three living grandchildren.

With such an impressive list of activities it doesn't follow that Sanford Haigh will settle down to the life of a farmer, although he claims that as his only project in retirement. "The farm needs cleaning up," he says.

The 200-acre farm south of Hillsboro on Route 62 in the Newmarket area, is devoted largely to a feeder calf setup, although he does raise enough corn and hay to feed the cattle and rents a portion of it to a tobacco farmer.

Royal Palace Not Good Enough

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — The royal palace isn't palatial enough for Nicolae Ceausescu, chief of state of Romania.

The Communist leader also is unhappy because the crowds aren't large enough and don't cheer loudly enough, according to sources handling arrangements for the Romanian's state visit to Portugal.

A butler at the 17th century palace said he had been told to take off his shoes so he wouldn't disturb the visiting Romanians.

"Classless society? Humph!," the butler snorted. "I waited on Queen Elizabeth in 1958 and she never made me go around in stocking feet."

Nursing Residents 'Treated'

Halloween came to Circleville Manor at 6:30 p.m. Thursday evening when children of relatives, friends and staff were transformed into ghosts and goblins in order to engage in "trick or treat" with Manor residents.

Memories of Halloween past mingled with last night's festival atmosphere as individuals bobbed for apples, played games and enjoyed refreshments.

Teddy Richard Ramey won the door prize, Valerie Pritchard won the most original, Michele Murray won the prettiest, and Paul David Murray won the funniest. Judges were Hattie Rife, Charlie Page, and Mrs. Madge Estle.

Staff members responsible for coordinating the night's activities were Mrs. Estle, director of nursing; Mrs. Sharon Sims, social director; and administrators, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minks. Volunteers from the Red Cross also assisted.

Youth For Understanding Seeks Sponsors

Youth For Understanding is looking for families in the area who wish to share their lives with a new "son or daughter" from another country, and American High School students interested in sharing their lives with a family in another country.

High School students from South America involved in the Youth For Understanding Program will be arriving in Central Ohio in January for a six-month stay.

The YFU students become a member of their new family and have the same responsibilities and privileges as other children in the house. Host families provide food and housing, while students are responsible for their own personal expenses.

American students can participate in either the summer program or the year program which includes attendance at a secondary school.

More information may be obtained from Mrs. Frank Lands at 474-2586.
